HOOVER STARTS OUT TOMORROW FOR CAMPAIGN

German Leaders Call; Pledge Aid.

BY PHILIP KINSLEY.
[Chicago Tribune Staff Service.]
Washington, D. C., July 12.—(Special.)—Whether to conduct a back campaign next fall from his Washington residence or find a new home somewhere in the middle west to receive delegations is one of the questions that Herbert Hoover will have to decide as soon as he gets through with his world-wide chores in his department of commerce.

The Republican candidate agreed today to all the plans that have been made for his reception along the route of his western trip which begins Saturday evening. He does not expect to return to governmental duties and will begin next week to devote himself to the political and the candidate.

His First Appearance.
From Chicago to California and all the way back to Washington Mr. Hoover will appear as a public citizen, setting his cause before the people. The candidate will be in Chicago next Sunday from 2 p. m. until late evening. On Monday he will reach President Coolidge's summer White House in northern Wisconsin. After a day and a half there he will be the guest of Duluth, Minn., and Superior, Wis., with parades in both cities.

Then on Tuesday evening he will go west, with stops at Omaha, Grand Island and North Platte, Neb.; Cheyenne, Wyo.; Ogden, Utah; Reno, Nev.; Sacramento, finally reaching his coast home at Palo Alto.

German Call on Work.
One of the principal campaign developments of today was the call made by Dr. Hubert Work, Mr. Hoover's campaign manager, by six representatives of German-American groups who pledged their support to Secretary Hoover.

HOLDS SPENDING $647,928 MUST GO ON BALLOT

Halts Move to Begin Subway Plans.

The appropriation of $647,928 to Michael J. Faherty for subway plans was handed a knockout yesterday, less than twenty-four hours after its passage by the city council. Mr. Faherty, it developed, will receive none of the money without the voters' approval at a referendum.

The upset of the appropriation and consequent blocking of subway activity for an indefinite period came about through a disclosure by City Controller Charles C. Fitzmorris that the council acted improperly, if not illegally. A specific provision in the annual budget, Mr. Fitzmorris found, requires a referendum before any subway expenditure from the traction fund.

Fitzmorris States His Stand.

"I will not let a penny of the money be taken out of the city treasury under this procedure," the controller declared when asked what his next step would be. "The council had no authority to make the appropriation and I have none to pay it."

News of Mr. Fitzmorris' statement, which was made in answer to a reporter's question, last night was still unknown at the city hall. Mr. Faherty had intended to employ 240 engineers and experts immediately.

In explanation of his position, Mr. Fitzmorris cited the council record of Jan. 9, 1925, containing the annual appropriation bill. On page 1847, under "Appropriations from the Traction Fund," $2,500,000 is set aside in account 304-X for the construction of subways.

Referendum Is Provided.

One of the reservations declares that "no amount shall be expended hereunder, until after the passage by the city council and approval by the voters by a referendum vote of an ordinance directing the making of such improvement."

It was out of account 304-X that the Faherty appropriation was made. The ordinance, however, provided for a transfer of the $647,928 from account 304-X to account 304-X-1, ordering the controller to pay the money from the latter new account.

"There is no such account as 304-X-1," asserted Mr. Fitzmorris. "The appropriation, in fact, would come from 304-X and the referendum provision is effective and binding. Creation of a new account in no way changes the reservations on the old one, and unless and until there is a referendum, no money will be forthcoming."

Mystery Veils Authorship.

Who is responsible for drafting the appropriation ordinance providing for the ineffective transfer appeared yesterday to be a mystery. At the office of the corporation controller was reported that the ordinance was drafted there. Aid. Joseph McDonough, chairman of the local transportation committee, submitted the measure first to his committee and a second copy to the finance committee. Both committees approved it.

Still further mystery attaches to the fact that no explanation of the transfer was made in either the committee or council debates. Opponents of the measure seemingly were unaware that any referendum stipulation was involved while its sponsors, if informed, said nothing about it.

The appropriation passed the council by a vote of 37 to 13 after a bitter clash between the administration majority, led by Aid. McDonough and Aid. O. F. Nelson (48th) and an embattled minority, led by Aid. Guy Guernsey (5th).

Guernsey Warning Recalled.

Aid. Guernsey, charging that the public has lost faith in the Faherty regime, declared "the whole thing is mysterious and bad." He also challenged the record on the ground that the ordinance should have been debated and published for one week, but was overruled by Mayor Thompson. During the debate Aid. Guernsey warned that the administration was "putting its head into a trap."

WAVERING ALLEGIANCE

Air Pioneer, 60, Killed in Plane's Crash

Henry C. (Pop) Keller, 60 years old, veteran pilot who had been identified with aviation in the middle west since 1908, was killed yesterday afternoon when the plane in which he and another pilot were flying went into a tail spin and crashed at Ashburn field, near 87th street and Cicero avenue.

The other pilot, West Johnson, 27 years old, 6650 University avenue, suffered only bruises and lacerations. He was taken to Jackson Park hospital, but was released after it had been determined that he was not seriously injured.

Survivor Tells of Crash.

According to Johnson, who said that he is a licensed pilot, Keller took him up to show him how the Laird biplane worked. The machine had the dual control feature, which has been blamed for many of the accidents in recent months near Chicago.

"We were about 2,000 feet up," said Johnson, "when the tail spin began. Keller yelled to me to let him have the controls. I had given them up and to show him I held my hands up over my head. He kept working at the controls, but it did no good, and the next thing I knew we had landed with a crash."

Accident Puzzles Johnson.

He was unable to explain how Keller was crushed in the wreckage, while he escaped with slight hurts. Nor could he understand, he said, the failure of the veteran aviator to bring about a safe landing.

Johnson added that he had flown for a number of hours, but needed a course in night flying to enable him to make a favorable connection.

"I wanted to take up the plane alone," he said, "but decided it was better, with a new machine, to have an oldtimer along who understood it. Keller consented to take me up."

Head of Flying Service.

Keller operated a concern known as the Keller Flying Service and instruction company. He owned three planes and was regarded in the aviation world as a careful pilot who maintained a high standard of occupational ethics.

DOCTOR'S WIFE BEATEN BY TWO MEN IN HER HOME

Mrs. Beatrice Mills, 32 years old, wife of Dr. Martin J. Mills of the Jackson Park hospital staff, was kicked and beaten yesterday by two men who had followed her into her home at 2143 East 90th street and bound her hands and feet with cord torn from an electric lamp.

One of the men first seized a picture of Dr. Mills and smashed it on the floor. Then, when Mrs. Mills protested, he shouted that he was going to give her "what your husband's given my wife." The pair then bound her and kicked her until she was unconscious.

Mrs. Mills freed herself about an hour later and called her husband, who is assistant to Dr. Joseph Springer, coroner's criminologist.

Last night Rudolph Kellogg, 7828 South Wabash avenue, whose wife, Mildred, is secretary of the hospital, was arrested by the South Chicago police. He is alleged to have assaulted Mrs. Mills because of jealousy. Dr. Mills, his wife and Mrs. Kellogg all asserted there was no ground for the violence. Kellogg asserted that he had never seen Mrs. Mills, but despite his protestation of innocence he was held by the police. Mrs. Mills was hysterical.

Cites Current Record.

"He has risen on that record to a place of great power, but chiefly by the aid of 'Tammany's' big and little in great cities."

Mr. White said that in the New York legislature Smith had voted time and again against allowing the people to vote on any sort of restriction on the sale of liquor; four times against stopping gambling and prostitution in connection with saloons; three times against repealing the law keeping the saloons open on Sunday; four times in favor of removing zoning restrictions which would keep open saloons from churches and schools and three times in favor of laws sponsored by organized gambling.

Tammany's Prophet.

"Tammany is Tammany and Smith is his prophet," said Mr. White. "The whole puritan civilization which has built a sturdy, orderly nation is threatened by Smith."

"His record explains what Tammany means."

Chicagoan, World War Veteran, Drowns in East

Troy, N. Y., July 12.—(AP)—Arthur Parker, 37, of Chicago, a world war veteran, drowned today while bathing in Glass lake, Rensselaer county, N. Y., who had just come east to join the sales force of a Rensselaer mill concern, served with the Canadian army in France.

Buffalo Democratic Leader Slain; Cause a Mystery

Buffalo, N. Y., July 12.—(AP)—Police tonight sought a motive for the murder today of John G. "Doc" Moriarity, Democratic supervisor of Erie county and prominent Buffalo politician. Shot in a downtown saloon, he died in a hospital after refusing to name his assailants.

Editor White Calls Al a Foe of U. S. Ideals

Olathe, Kas., July 12.—(AP)—Formerly opening the Republican campaign in Kansas, William Allen White, in an address here tonight, praised the personal courage of Gov. Alfred E. Smith, but declared "his election would menace the nation."

"It is not that Gov. Smith is a Catholic and a wet which makes him an offense to the villagers and town dwellers, but because his record shows the kind of President he would make—'a Tammany President,' the Emporia editor said."

"Mary Ann," she said, "plays about in the bushes and when she gets back home we have to bathe her. Before she started playing in the bushes Mary Ann never had a flea. Please see if something can't be done about riding the bushes of fleas."

The assignment was turned over to William O. Paape, sanitary supervisor and building inspector. After interviewing Mrs. Morton and convincing himself that Mary Ann really had picked up fleas, he issued a statement.

"We are doing what we can," he said, "but the task is difficult. We have no equipment for catching fleas and it is not practical to cut down all the bushes. I am going to ask the city physician, Dr. C. P. McCullough, to make a suggestion."

Raskob Long a Member of Famous Republican Club

Philadelphia, Pa., July 12.—(Special.)—John J. Raskob, campaign manager for Gov. Alfred E. Smith, has been a member of the Union League, stronghold of Philadelphia Republicanism, for about ten years, membership lists disclosed today.

It was as a Republican that Mr. Raskob joined the Union League, otherwise he could not have been admitted. Charles E. Roberts, vice president of the league, said today that as long as Mr. Raskob chooses he may remain a member.

Electrocute 7 in Kentucky for Murders

Eddyville, Ky., July 13.—(AP)—Seven men, all convicted murderers, were electrocuted in the state penitentiary here this morning. Last minute efforts of attorneys for one of the condemned to obtain a stay on an insanity plea failed after a dramatic hearing in the prison chapel.

The death march started at 12:15, with Hascue Dockery, 21, Harlan, Ky., leading the way. Four hours earlier he had sneered and flicked the ashes from a cigaret when the warden read the warrants dooming the men to die. He was near collapse as he reached the chair.

Four Are White Men.

In quick order Milford "Red" Lawson, 35, Corbin, Ky.; Charles Paul Mitra, 23, St. Louis, Mo.; and Orlando "Red" Seymour, 21, Louisville, all white men, followed.

The three Negroes, William Moore and James Howard, Louisville, and Clarence McQueen, Cynthiana, Ky., were immediately shifted from their quarters in the prison proper to the death house, and they went to the chair in the order named.

Plea for Stay Fails.

The attempt to obtain a stay was made in behalf of Seymour, whose Louisville attorneys obtained a hearing before the county judge here on an insanity plea. Reluctant to send the prisoner from the shelter of the prison, the warden asked that the chapel be used instead of the courtroom. Counsel agreed and Seymour was led, half fainting, to the room.

The altar or speaker's stand was used as the judge's bench. Short arguments were heard and the judge held he had no jurisdiction. Seymour did not speak from that minute until he died.

FLEAS IN BUSHES SPOIL MARY ANN IN LAKE FOREST

Two baths a day for one Pomeranian are too many. So Mrs. Mark Morton of Lake Forest, mother of Mrs. William Swift, wants the city administration to do something about the bushes along the highways, from which, she says, each vagrant breeze shakes down scores of fleas. Mrs. Morton called the city clerk's office yesterday.

"Mary Ann," she said, "plays about in the bushes and when she gets back home we have to bathe her. Before she started playing in the bushes Mary Ann never had a flea. Please see if something can't be done about riding the bushes of fleas."

The assignment was turned over to William O. Paape, sanitary supervisor and building inspector. After interviewing Mrs. Morton and convincing himself that Mary Ann really had picked up fleas, he issued a statement.

SHIP TAKES OFF FIVE SURVIVORS AT FOYN ISLAND

Pals Tell Heroism of Dead Malmgren.

ROME, July 12.—(AP)—The base ship Citra di Milano at Kings bay, Spitzbergen, reports that the Russian ice breaker Krasin at 9 p. m. (3 p. m. Chicago time) took aboard the five marooned Italians who were with Gen. Umberto Nobile on the ice floe north of Foyn island after the polar dirigible Italia crashed.

Those saved by the Krasin tonight are: Lieut. Alfredo Vigliani, Italian navy navigator; Prof. F. Behounek, Czechoslovakian meteorologist; Giuseppe Biogoli, radio operator; Natale Cecconi, motor chief, who suffered a broken leg when the dirigible was wrecked; Filippo Trolani, engineer.

Krasin Saves Seven.

This brings the number of men left on the ice and rescued today to seven. The other two were Capt. Mariako and Filippo Zappi, pilot and navigator of the dirigible, who had been walking forty-three days in an attempt to reach land. Dr. Finn Malmgren, the Swedish meteorologist and leader of the two, was dead. The two Italians and the body of Dr. Malmgren were taken aboard the Krasin.

Shortly before the Krasin reached the "red tent" group at Foyn island, the captain reported that he had seen a number of men as it passed the scene of the Italia disaster signaling wildly. He replied that he would pick them up on his return from the Vigliani group.

Prof. Samojlovich, in command of the soviet rescue expedition, reported his belief that the men who signaled to them were Alpine chamois who had been sent in search of Gen. Nobile's men. There is a possibility that they belong to the missing sled party of Capt. Sora.

Malmgren Found Dead.

(Copyright, 1928, by The Associated Press.)
ABOARD RUSSIAN ICE BREAKER KRASIN IN ARCTIC, July 11.—(AP)—Capt. Alberto Mariako and Filippo Zappi, pilot and navigator of the north pole dirigible Italia, without food for 13 days and seemingly doomed to an agonizing death, were rescued today by the powerful Russian ice breaker Krasin.

The almost unbelievable epic of their rescue was darkened by news that Dr. Finn Malmgren, noted Swedish meteorologist and leader of the little group that set out forty-three days ago to bring help to the stranded crew of the Italia, had died thirty days ago.

Starving and exhausted, but still standing guard over the body of their comrade, the two Italians were taken aboard the Krasin at 7 a. m. today. A few minutes later the sturdy vessel turned its bow eastward to continue its rescue efforts in behalf of the Italia's men still marooned.

Tell Story of Suffering.

The full story of Dr. Malmgren's death and their own bitter suffering was told today aboard the Krasin by the two men who had been miraculously saved. For thirteen days they had not eaten, for thirty days they had clung to the body of Dr. Malmgren in the vague hope of taking it back to civilization. They had all but resigned themselves to death on Tuesday when the Russian plane attached to the Krasin, commanded by Pilot Chukhovskiy, sighted them and directed the rescue efforts which ended successfully this morning.

Setting out from the Noble group on May 15 to bring help, the progress of the three men toward land had been impeded by an injury to Dr. Malmgren's leg, which he suffered when the gondola of the Italia crashed to the ground.

Unable to move further, the heroic scientist who had given most of his years to study of the secrets of the north, begged them to march on to save their own lives and leave him to his inevitable end, but they would not go. They felt bound to him by the closest bonds of comradeship in the desolate frozen waste which surrounded them and they ministered to him until he died.

Guard Body 36 Days.

Even in death, they would not desert his body and for thirty days they jealously guarded it.

Day after day they spent in the silent horror, their food supplies slowly but steadily diminishing until thirteen days ago there was virtually nothing left. In the desolate region where they were, off Northeast Land, they had just one hope and that was that somehow out of the murky skies might come a rescuing airplane.

This dream, the men said today, born in infinite pain, was finally fulfilled when M. Chukhnovsky on Tuesday evening emerged from the heavy, low hanging cloud like a rescuing angel.

Starting as they were and dying inch by inch, the plane bore a promise of life, but for the moment this promise was not destined for fulfillment and 34 hours of further suffering was still before them. The plane could not land.

Krasin Finds Men.

All last night the Krasin plunged again and again through the thick mass of ice floes through the twenty miles of sea that separated it from the dying men. At five o'clock this morning the captain on the bridge saw a human figure on an ice floe.

Two hours later the ice breaker drew along side the tiny group on the floe. One of the men stood waving faintly a tattered flag. The second lay exhausted on the ice and beside him was the body of Dr. Malmgren.

The doctor, although widely experienced in Arctic life, had been harder hit by the accident to him when the gondola crashed than he knew and was not equal to the long and difficult journey before him. He died a month ago from cold and exhaustion near Brock Island.

Stand at Salute; Men Weep.

Eager as the Russians were to minister to the needs of the living men, they did not forget the dead. While all stood at salute the body was carried aboard the vessel and laid in state. It was a moving scene and many of the hardened men participating in it were not ashamed to show their tear-stained faces.

As the Krasin turned to further rescue work, Capt. Zappi and Mariano were taken below, where they were bathed, given food and fresh clothes.

Nearly Went Upside.

(By the United Press.) VIRGO BAY, Spitzbergen, July 12.—During their 43 day trek across arctic ice Capt. Mariano and Zappi at times were on the verge of insanity, they told those aboard the Krasin tonight.

The two Italians saw eight airplanes searching for them but could not attract the attention of the aviators. A wireless from the Krasin tonight said Capt. Mariano and Zappi had left the body of Dr. Malmgren at Brock Island at his own suggestion. Later they returned and kept vigil over the dead man until today. He was frozen to death on June 15.

The Italians said they continued their journey after Capt. Malmgren's death until open water barred further progress toward land. Then they retraced their course to where they had left their companion.

All Sweden Mourns.

STOCKHOLM, Sweden, July 12.—(AP)—The report of Dr. Pinn Malmgren's death in the Arctic, came as a gloom throughout Sweden. Despite his youth—he was only 33 years of age—Dr. Malmgren had made himself a name as an exceptionally proficient meteorologist.

Polar explorers and others who had come into contact with Dr. Malmgren and his work gave him high praise. Capt. Amundsen said that his work was meritorious, adding: "When we came into fog and did not know which way to fly, we asked Malmgren, and we can thank him that we succeeded in carrying on our north polar flight with a minimum of sleep."

His Farewell to Mother.

In September, 1927, Dr. Malmgren took his doctor's degree. Shortly before that he was awarded the Reizius medal, the Swedish Geographical society's highest honor.

When the Italia passed over Stockholm on its journey to Spitzbergen the dirigible swung over Malmgren's home at "Aspeviken," the residential section of Stockholm, where the mother now mourns her son, and dropped greetings to her. That was Dr. Malmgren's farewell to his mother.

IS STILL ON ICE.

Of the 18 men who set out in the dirigible Italia for the north pole on May 23 eight have been rescued, two are definitely known to have died, and the remaining six have disappeared entirely, with the probability that they are long dead.

There are at least nine others who have been swallowed up in the Arctic. These consisted of two rescue parties, one headed by Capt. Roald Amundsen, famous explorer, and the other headed by Capt. Sora, Italian Alpine chasseur. The Amundsen party of six left Norway in an airplane last month, and has since dropped out of sight, while the Sora group started afoot across Northeast Land and has since disappeared.

Pilot Chukhnovsky and four of his crew, aboard the Russian plane which sighted the Malmgren group, also has been added to the list of would-be rescuers in difficulties. Their plane made a forced landing near Northeast Land yesterday, damaging its landing gear. The group has enough provisions for two weeks and will make an effort to repair the plane.

RESCUED

The Russian ice breaker Krasin yesterday and last night rescued seven men who were with the Noble party when the dirigible Italia crashed in the Arctic in May. Capt. Adalberto Mariano and Filippo Zappi were rescued from the ice early yesterday, 43 days after leaving the ice camp near Pinn Island in an effort to walk to land. Dr. Pinn Malmgren, the Swedish scientist, was found dead with these two. Last night the Krasin reached the Pinn Island camp and took of the remaining five survivors.

ONLY $150,000 NOLAN PROPERTY IS FOUND BY U. S.

The government has been able to list property amounting to only $150,000 of the $5,000,000 fortune on which it is alleged that John J. Nolan, wealthy beer dealer, owes $1,500,000 in income taxes, interest, and penalties, it was revealed yesterday with the filing of liens.

Mrs. Mabel G. Reinecke, collector of internal revenue, filed a lien Tuesday for the amount due in taxes against Nolan, who is said to have done an independent business amounting to 40,000 barrels of beer during the years 1924, 1925, 1926 and 1927.

Property said to belong to Nolan and which was listed in liens yesterday is as follows: 250 shares Commonwealth Edison, 200 shares American Telephone and Telegraph, 200 shares Sprague Sells company, 30 shares Riverside Ice company, four lots at 5320-26 West Division street, two lots in Forest Park, 3437-39 South Hermitage street, Thirty-ninth and Hees avenue, Lyons, Ill., and 5623 South Paulina street.

SLOT MACHINE'S LANDLORD PAYS BACK $50 TAXES

Nick Koclanis, proprietor of a candy store at 2371 Lincoln avenue, sang the blues yesterday in Town Hall court. It was a bad day for Nick because Judge Francis Allegretti made him hand back five crisp $10 bills to Mrs. Emma Neumann, 2124 Pearl court. The bills represented 1,000 nickels which he had paid to a slot machine in Nick's store last Monday.

Mrs. Neumann had sent Carl down to the county building to pay the taxes on her little two story frame house. As the boy passed Nick's place he heard the whirr of a slot machine. He entered and changed a bill. He was given 20 nickels. He lost them and got some more.

According to young Neumann, Nick told him he could "beat" the machine if he stuck to it. He did for many hours. When he got through the fifty dollars had found a resting place in the slot machine.

U. OF C. PROFESSOR IS DIVORCED ON CRUELTY CHARGE

Prof. Frank H. Knight of the University of Chicago was divorced yesterday in Iowa City, Ia., by Mrs. Minerva S. Knight. She charged him with cruelty and he did not contest her suit. She was awarded $400 a month alimony for the support of herself and their four children, who range in age from 6 to 12 years.

Prof. Knight is an instructor in the department of economics. His assignments for the semester opening in the fall include classes on "The Evolution of Economic Institutions and Ideas" and "The History of Economic Thought." He was formerly a member of the University of Iowa College of Commerce.

TRAYLOR PRAISES RESERVE BOARD'S CURB ON CREDIT

Warns Against Peril in Orgy of Trading.

Melvin A. Traylor, president of the First National bank and former president of the American Bankers' association, analyzed the American credit situation last night and championed the federal reserve board in what he praised as its efforts to ward off a financial peril comparable in prospect with the Florida real estate fiasco. He spoke at the dedication banquet of the new Chicago Curb Exchange association in the Stevens hotel.

Mr. Traylor said the country has been trading in the stock markets on its credit instead of its wealth. He said that the people have expanded their commitments about six billion dollars which must be paid some day, somehow, somewhere by somebody. Unless a halt is made, he declared, the country will find itself doing as it did in 1920-21 when the rate of reserves dropped below 40 per cent of the liabilities, an illegal situation.

Exchange Loans Scar.

"Stock exchange loans have been going up during the two and one-half years or at the rate of one billion dollars a year," said Mr. Traylor. "In the meantime the federal reserve ratio has gone down just as steadily."

"It would be criminal, silly and ignorant of the bankers of the United States to permit a continuance of this expansion of credit through membership banks of the federal reserve system. It is my opinion that this will not be done. Moreover, if bankers permit such a thing as this to go on at a time when loans on eligible paper are declining and loans on collateral are increasing they should be put out of business."

Raise Rediscunt Rate.

"Such a condition of expansion would bring about a return of $400 an acre land in Illinois such as we had in 1920 and the rest of the life that go along with unhealthy credit conditions. There is one way to stop anything like that happening and that is to raise the rediscunt rate."

NEW YORK RESERVE RAISES REDISCOUNT RATE; STOCKS DROP

New York, July 12.—[Special].—Following similar action in Chicago, the New York Federal Reserve bank today raised the rediscunt rate from 4 1/2 to 5 per cent in an apparent effort to check speculation.

Announcement of the raise came after the close of the stock market, but the action was forecast and stock prices slumped generally in anticipation. General Motors lost 6 points, but Radio and U. S. Steel were firmer. Other stocks, however, were under pressure all day.

Secretary of the Treasury Andrew W. Mellon, before sailing early today for Europe, said that he attached no significance to the fact that the rediscunt rate of the Chicago bank had been put into effect ten days after it had been voted by the directors. The delay, he said, was not due to any desire to aid treasury financing.

All members of the federal reserve board except himself were out of Washington at the time, he said, either on vacation or attending conventions, which was the reason for the delay in receiving formal approval. The higher rate, Mr. Mellon added, naturally would have a temporary effect on business.

There is one way to stop anything like that happening and that is to raise the rediscunt rate.

"There has been in recent weeks no little grumbling with respect to the money rates on the part of stock exchange traders. They have criticized the bankers and accused them of putting the thumbscrews on stock market activity. I know of no banker who is lending himself in any way to the operation of the thumbscrews. This is no artificial situation. It has been obvious and apparent for the last six months that the volume of stock exchange transactions has created an unwarranted inflation of credit through collateral loans."

Mr. Traylor ended by saying that there is sufficient credit in the country for the operation of all business on a safe and sane basis and that if proper restraint is taken no trouble will ensue.

Abolition of political parties as far as the operation of the city government is concerned was advocated by Mayor William E. Dever at the same banquet.

NO DATE SET FOR OPERATION ON MICHELSON

An operation is to be performed on Prof. Albert A. Michelson, noted University of Chicago physicist, at the Presbyterian hospital, but a time for it will not be set until observations have been completed. It was announced yesterday.

Prof. Michelson, who is 75 years old, had planned to leave Chicago for California on Tuesday to repeat his experiments on the speed of light, but went to the hospital on the advice of the physician.

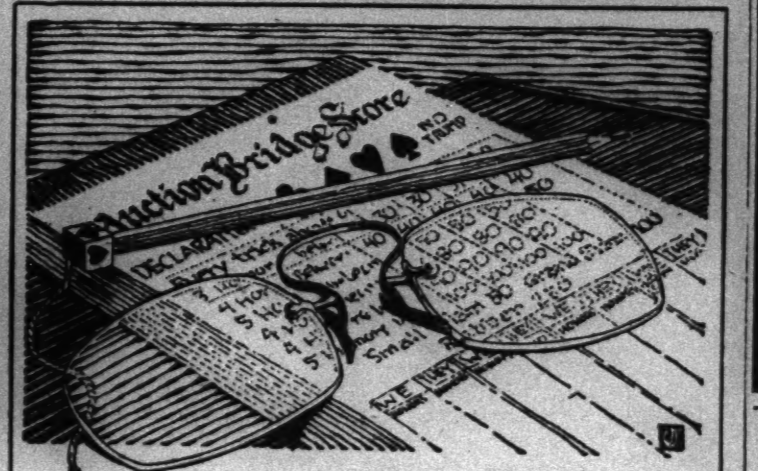

Attempt Made to Rob Rongetti Case Prosecutor
Assistant State's Attorney Charles A. Bellows, who assisted in the prosecution of Dr. Amante Rongetti, sentenced to death for murder by abortion, reported to the police yesterday that he had been followed for several blocks by three men in an automobile. He said that the men ran him to the curb in Grant park and, producing revolvers, ordered him to drive to the viaduct at Twenty-third street. He said he managed to escape the men in the traffic and notified a policeman near the Field museum. He believes he was the victim of an attempted robbery.

This explains the vogue of rimless glasses. Heavy rims detract attention from the eye. Hence the rimless shapes: Puritan, Oval, Colonial or Leaf are favored for formal and for street wear.

Of these, perhaps the smartest, the one most enhancing to youthful appearance, is the Almer Coe and Company's exclusive Puritan Design, a graceful rimless shape designed on new principles for correct eye range and harmony with facial contour.

JUDGE INTIMATES HE WILL UPHOLD VOTE CRIME JURY

"Public Interest" Stand Taken by Comerford.

Indications that he would uphold the legality of the special grand jury and its right to indict terrorists and their leaders in the investigation of Chicago election crimes and frauds were given yesterday from the bench by Judge Frank Comerford of the Criminal court.

After hearing all the arguments advanced by the lawyers retained by Morris Eller, boss of the Bloody 20th ward, and his indicted aide, Judge Comerford indicated his own views on the matter. They showed that he leaned toward a decision dismissing the contention of the defense, which was that two grand juries could not sit at the same time in the county, and that, consequently, all the indictments returned by the special grand jury were null and void.

To Hear Loecher's Side Today.
Judge Comerford had not heard argument from Frank J. Loecher, chief prosecutor of the election crimes, nor his assistants, David D. Stanbury and Edwin J. Raber, all of whom were in court. They will be heard today.

But the judge himself had made an exhaustive study of the question, going back centuries in the history of grand juries here and in England. In the light of this study, his comment was regarded as doubly authoritative by the prosecutors.

Conceding himself bound by the precedents before him of a matter of such importance as the successful continuance of the special grand jury's drive against the crime situation, Judge Comerford said it seemed to him that the statute upon which the jury had been summoned was broad enough in its terms to cover the use made of it.

"For the Public Interest."
Then he said:

"In view of the great public interest in this matter, if I was in doubt and couldn't decide which way to take, then I would resolve that doubt in favor of the public interest. For if I err against the defendants, they may take my judgment to a higher court for review and obtain a lasting ruling."

"But if I err against the people, then I preclude them from what they are seeking to do. For they cannot appeal to the higher courts. The state has no appeal."

Take Practical Viewpoint.
"I don't believe," Judge Comerford replied, "that a judge should be detached from the affairs of the community, and he should view these matters from a practical viewpoint. Looking upon your proposal to sub-

Jury Fund Only $8,130 from Goal

The fund being raised by public subscription to finance the special grand jury investigation of election fraud and violence neared its goal of $100,000 yesterday with a day's collection of nearly $4,000. The $8,130 still needed will be collected within the next few days, James B. Forgan, chairman of the fund committee, predicted.

A list of yesterday's contributors follows:

$100—Law & Thomas & Logan.
$500—Joy Morton, American Radiator company, Hornblower & Weeks.
$100—Beatrice Creamery company, Stevens Hotel company, Alfred E. Hamill, J. Walter Thompson company, Alfred Cowles, Donald M. Ryerson, B. E. Sunny, Alfred K. Stern, G. M. McConnell, A. R. Brunner, American Can company, George E. Scott, The Fair.

$10—George W. Hall, Chicago Real Estate Index company, Ross & Brown, Mack International Truck corporation, Durant Motor company of Chicago, University State bank, David Fireproof Storage warehouses.

Mill these cases to the regular grand jury, I can believe it would not be practicable.

The court also condemned the use of grand juries at all except in extraordinary cases. The point of all the argument has been the construction of the following state law:

"The judge of any court of record may issue a special venire for a grand jury at any time when in his opinion public justice requires it."

From English Common Law.

Under the old common law of England, which governs in Illinois where no specific statute to the contrary appears in the law books, there can be only one grand jury in existence in a county at a time. The question raised by defense lawyers in this case, in which they sought to abate indictments for kidnapping against Morris Kline and Edward Brownstein, was whether the statute quoted was simply a reiteration of the common law or whether it superseded it. The defense claimed it was a reiteration.

"If the legislature simply declared the provisions of the common law," said Judge Comerford, "their act would have been nugatory but an empty gesture."

"But note the phrase which says the judge may call a grand jury 'at any time.' Had they left that phrase out, Mr. Ahern, there would be great force and weight to your argument."

Points to Discretionary Phrase.

"But here is a statute in which they fall to include the restrictions set down by the common law. And they include that phrase of the English language which is plain as any ever could be. 'At any time' gives the court jurisdiction to use his discretion, and that has been done in this case by Chief Justice Brothers."

"The court of course has the right to control, by advice and counsel, the acts of a special grand jury, which should make impossible the suggestion you have made that a hundred special grand juries might be indicting the same men."

"But grand juries are woefully archaic in our modern schemes of justice. We have inherited and still maintain the English law of the reign of King James, charted out in 1607. The English themselves are too sen-

Outlines Grand Jury Function.

"The grand jury should be used only to conduct grand investigations on an extensive scale. Too often the grand jury has been a smoke screen behind which many a political dagger has been unsheathed. State's attorneys have stuck their thumbs in their vests and said, 'naturally, the grand jury indicted you, not I.'"

"Prosecutors should be compelled to stand before the people and upon their own oaths prefer charges against criminals, instead of standing before a grand jury, which almost without exception they control absolutely."

New Indictments Ready.

While the arguments have been progressing before Judge Comerford, the new special grand jury, which took up the investigation last Monday, has voted a number of true bills. It was learned yesterday. Last night the jury adjourned until Monday, and no indictments were returned.

While Frederick Loecher refused to comment on the true bills, it was reported they named Joseph "Pepp" Genero, gangster captured on Monday by Capt. John Stagg, chief investigator for the special grand jury, and Rocco Fanelli, caught at the same time. Both men have been accused by prosecution witnesses of kidnapping and assaulting workers opposed to the interests of Morris Eller.

Watchman Crossing in Evanston Killed by Train

Harold A. Kline, 47 years old, 1412 Ashland avenue, Evanston, a gateman employed by the Chicago, North Shore and Milwaukee railroad at the Emerson street crossing, Evanston, was fatally injured yesterday morning when he was struck by a northbound train. He was off duty at the time and was standing on the northbound tracks waiting for a southbound train when he was struck. He was taken to the Evanston hospital, where he died.

BOARD OF TRADE'S WAREHOUSE PLAN IS VOTED DOWN

Commerce Body Objects to Management.

Members of the Illinois commerce commission late yesterday voted to reject the application of the Chicago Board of Trade to establish a warehouse corporation which would control elevator space for public grain in the Chicago market.

The decision of the commerce commission was based on a thirteen page opinion given by Attorney F. Benjamin Goldstein.

The establishment of a warehouse project was sketched out by the Board of Trade under provisions of the McCarthy bill passed by the last legislature. It was directed toward an elimination of grain scandals, and to remedy in general defects in the present grain storage system, grain brokers testified at hearings before the commission.

Decrease in Transactions.

John R. Mauff, a broker, testified that grain transactions on the Board of Trade had dropped from a former daily average of 100,000,000 bushels to 30,000,000 bushels, largely due, he said, to stringent laws and hampered elevator facilities.

"The most serious defect in the suggested warehousing plan involved the subject of management," said Patrick H. McNamara, chairman of the state commerce commission.

outlined, the establishment of this corporation would create a monopoly of the business of grain warehousing in the Chicago market. It would be controlled by five directors, all associated with Board of Trade activities. Their action would naturally give them access to valuable information regarding the amount of available grain space in the local market, knowledge not distributed to other traders.

Plan May Be Revamped.

Mr. McNamara said the warehousing plan was apparently intended to be the public interest. He said that no provision is made to protect the public, especially the agricultural interest. It was inferred that the Board of Trade will revamp its plan, and again present it to the commission for consideration.

These voting including Chairman McNamara, and Commissioners William Smith, Edward Wright, Hal Trevilian, Alexander Johnson and Paul Kuhn.

McPHEE MAN CHARGES FRAUD.

Joseph C. McPhee, former Chicago police captain, obtained a warrant for the arrest of Gustav Schulte, 1711 Madison avenue, yesterday on a charge of selling him $2,500 in bogus stocks.

Bank Teller Pleads Guilty to $50,000 Embezzlement
George W. Anderson, former teller of the Calumet National bank who was removed throughout Europe and Africa for four months after he had embezzled $50,000, pleaded guilty to the charge yesterday before Federal Judge Fred L. Whelan. The hearing was continued until Tuesday to allow Edward J. Hunt, assistant district attorney, to take Anderson before the grand jury. Anderson, it is said, has implicated Stanley Bransky, alias James R. Pater, former manager of the South Shore Kennel club, and Richard M. Johnson, a bookie, as having influenced him to gamble the bank's money. In a recent case two members were sentenced to the penitentiary as accessories to an embezzlement.

COUNTY ENJOINED FROM COLLECTING TWO TAX CLAIMS

Excessive Valuation in '27
Assessments Charged.

Two members of the Taxpayers' Committee on Uniform Assessments yesterday went into the Circuit court and obtained injunctions restraining County Treasurer George F. Harding from collecting alleged excessive 1927 taxes on their properties. Although counsel for the treasurer appealed in both cases it is expected the court's rulings will act as precedents and that a large number of property owners who have paid only what they will claim were fair taxes on their holdings, will seek to enjoin the county.

The two members of the taxpayers' committee who obtained the injunctions are Frederick C. Aldrich, former president of the Chicago Stock Exchange, and Mrs. Josephine H. Douglas.

Mr. Aldrich is trustee of 13 1/2 acres of land near Homan avenue and 33d street. He charged that the property is worth only $31,600 but that he was assessed on a valuation of $113,494, or 358 per cent of its value. He states he paid the county $1,699 for taxes. The injunctions for the present stop the collection of the remainder of the $113,494 levied against the property.

Mrs. Douglas told Judge Hugo Fried that her property at 512-13 South State street is worth $201,500, but was assessed on a valuation of $774,325. She alleged that violated the custom of assessing property at about 40 per cent of its actual value. She stated her tax bill for 1927 was $1,694.33, and that she has paid $1,694.60 and is willing to pay any further sum the court may determine she ought to pay.

While the actions were on, John H. Guinn, secretary to Edward R. Litchner, chairman of the board of reviewed, declared that some 200,000 overburdened 1927 taxpayers are expected in the complaints charging excessive property valuations. He said the approximate number of complaints last year was 120,000. He believed, he said, that due to the situation this year, that number might be doubled.

Comparisons Are Made.

Meaningful comparisons were being made in the 1927 taxes collected from property owners on the south side. This was possible from the publication of the tax lists by the board of assessors as ordered by the state tax commission.

The lists for the assessments on properties in the 900 block on West Garfield boulevard, showed some unusual peculiarities in valuations.

There is, for instance, a group of two story frame dwellings covering three lots at numbers 940, 942, and 944 G. Garfield boulevard. The lot of 940 is 17x124 feet; the lot of 942 is 16x124, and the lot of 944 is 17x124 feet. The lots at 940 and 944 are listed as valued at $1,100 and the center (16 foot lot) is listed at $1,100. The houses on 944 and 942 are valued at $1,200 each; the one on 940 is valued at only $300.

Over on West 54th street, the houses were mostly frame cottages. Those that are painted look trim and new. Those that aren't look old and fallen away.

There were two very similar story-and-a-half cottages, both neatly

Cottages Alike, but Tax Valuations Different

Dwellings at 936 (left) and 938 West 54th street. Both are on 25 foot lots, each of which is valued at $625. The tax books show the cottage at 936 is valued at $800, while the adjoining one, which is adorned with a porch and is slightly more pretentious, is assessed at only $300. (TRIBUNE Photo.)

painted yellow, side by side at 936 and 938 West 54th. Each lot was valued at $625; but the owner at 936 paid taxes on the basis that his little home was worth $800, while the owner of 938 had his property valued at only $300.

There are two very similar cottages further up the street at 914 and 916 West 54th. The lot at 914 is 24x123 feet, and listed as valued at $600; the lot at 916 is 23x123, and valued at $575. The house on No. 914 is listed as valued at only $50 while the almost identical cottage next door is listed as valued at $700.

And that is the basis these two neighbors paid taxes on in 1927. Charles A. Lusher owns a story and a half frame cottage at 5353 South Peoria street. One door south at No. 5360, there is a two story store and flat building, also frame. Mr. Lusher paid taxes on the basis that his cottage is worth $900; while P. F. Harmon, owner of the store building, paid taxes on the basis that his building is worth less than half as much as the cottage next door—$400.

All Want Equal Taxing.

Some of those who had received information concerning the inequalities in their neighborhoods were grim and silent, others joked their more fortunate neighbors, saying their precinct committeemen would be in a position to help them next time. None wanted to talk about his neighbor nor show anger or envy, but those who had to borrow to pay their taxes and smarted under the often doubling of them in 1927 or the year before, had a common theme: They said they would be willing to pay any reasonable tax if everybody were treated alike.

"It isn't that I don't want to pay," many of the owners of the little cottages said. "But if Smith's home, here, is worth only $300, then mine is worth only that. And if mine is worth $1,000, then his is worth that much. All I want is a fair deal and I won't kick."

LOCKIOW FATAL TO BOY.

Edward Hopkins, 13 years old, 5538 Ward street, died last night in the Alexian Brothers hospital of lockjaw. The infection developed from a fracture of his left arm sustained when he fell from a tree in the yard of his home on July 6.

BEGIN HEARINGS ON 'MOVIE TRUST' INJUNCTION SUIT

Hearings on the application of Marica Brothers, proprietors of several moving picture houses, to restrain more than twenty motion picture producers and distributors from interfering with their business and from violating the Sherman anti-trust law through an alleged monopoly of the industry, was begun yesterday before Federal Judge George T. Page.

Some of the charges made by Marica Brothers are similar to those made by the government before the federal trade commission and which are still pending for disposition. These include charges of monopoly and conspiracy in restraint of trade. William H. Benham, assistant United States attorney general, who is in charge of anti-trust proceedings against a number of the defendants, is attending the trial.

Among the defendants are the Famous Players-Lasky corporation, Paramount, United Artists, and the Pathe Exchange.

Fort Worth, Tex., July 12.—(P)—A suit for $600,000 against Liberty Magazine was filed here today by Mrs. Temple Houston of Woodward, Okla. Her four children are plaintiffs in the suit also. The plaintiff says court records will show that the mother of Temple Houston was Margaret Lea, third wife of Sam Houston.

22 PLANES REACH LOS ANGELES ON NATIONAL TOUR

Los Angeles, Cal., July 12.—(P)—An aerial caravan roared down on Los Angeles today from the south, completing another leg of the national air tour which started from Detroit two weeks ago.

First of the planes to arrive from San Diego was a Lockheed, piloted by Bert Cantwell. He made the short jump in 53 minutes. Right behind him came Ed Levy in a Stearman plane. A Ryan monoplane, similar to Lindbergh's famous Spirit of St. Louis, was piloted by Vance Breese. The other planes in the tour followed later.

Mrs. Phoebe Omie of Memphis, Tenn., only woman pilot in the tour, was forced down on the sand at Laguna beach, 60 miles south, when her monoplane developed motor trouble. All other pilots of the 23 in the contest made safe landings here.

16 YOUTHS FINED FOR WAVING AT GIRLS ON STREET

Seventeen youthful silver Lotharios tried to explain to Judge Samuel H. Trade yesterday why they had waved to girls they did not know Wednesday night and of the seventeen only one escaped a fine of $5 and costs.

It all happened in the Woodlawn district on 53d street. Several mothers, it seems, became piqued because their daughters were annoyed by the young blades, and they threatened to drive the phillanderers out themselves should the police fail.

The police didn't fail and on Wednesday night a "manaher squad" was organized to rid the neighborhood of its presuming Lotharios.

the money at least temporarily without intervention by the controller.

Mayor Thompson put the first crimp in the plan by refusing to sign the ordinance until Corporation Counsel Etelson ruled on its legality. He asked for an opinion which probably would have been delivered the first of next week.

Meanwhile officials of the Amalgamated Improvement association composed of northwest side organizations, had launched plans to petition for a court injunction to stop the expenditure. August Nichols, president of the association, announced that definite action would be taken at a meeting of the association's board of trustees next Tuesday. At the same time Harry G. Welmer, president of the Central Northwest Topics corporation, publishing four northwest side newspapers, said he proposed to go into court with an independent suit if the association decided not to act.

Henry M. Ashton, attorney for the association, declared that there would be ample ground for such a suit under the state public utilities act of 1913. The act provides that "no city shall proceed to acquire or construct any public utility until an ordinance providing therefor has been duly passed and submitted to the electors of the city and approved by a majority of those voting thereon." Under this act, Mr. Ashton contended, the Faherty appropriation clearly was illegal.

Both Ald. Guernsey and Ald. Wiley W. Mills (37th), another opponent of the measure, concurred in Mr. Ashton's view and had indicated that they were ready to give their support in a court fight.

Faherty Apprehensive, Too.

Mr. Faherty himself became apprehensive as reports of the brewing storm reached his ears. He told interviewers that he expected a legal battle and was prepared to employ the best attorneys and "fight the obstructionists to the last ditch." He reiterated his view that if a subway ever is to be dug it should be started at once in time to be finished for the world's fair in 1933.

He had intended to proceed under the local improvements act, building the initial tube through the loop under State street by special assessment. Expenditure of the $647,928 would have been for preliminary plans to have been taken into court later when the assessment roll was spread.

What will be the outcome of the Plummer decision was problematic last night. As the council adjourned on Wednesday until Sept. 11, it was thought possible that a special meeting will be called within the next few days to ascertain what is to be done.

City Hall Is Grave for Six Foot Pile of Subway Plans Costing $1,500,000

Subway reports and plans prepared periodically since 1900 at a total estimated cost of nearly $1,500,000, each one projected as the initial step in the immediate construction of a Chicago subway system, rest defunct today on the shelves of the municipal reference library in the city hall. They stand at a height of six feet when placed one on top of another and they weigh more than 200 pounds.

Some of these "initial steps" are scarcely more than schemes, hastily proposed, but many of them are voluminous, detailed and specific engineering and lawyers' treatises, the compilations of which amounted in three instances to $250,000.

Faherty Seemed Optimistic.

In respect to the gusto with which these historical subway instruments were ordered and the matter of the optimism of their promoters and creators that the "initial steps" would be followed shortly by excavation work, there is a resemblance to the city council's action on Wednesday in appropriating $647,928 for plans for a downtown subway.

It was the prediction of Michael J. Faherty, president of the board of local improvements, before the decision of City Controller Fitzmorris that the council's appropriation was invalid, that his $647,928 plan would not go to swell the archives of the municipal reference library but would be used as a handy guide by contractors in the actual digging of subways.

Although most of the plans are described as comprehensive, there are four reports, outstanding in their elaborateness and in the expense of their preparation. The first is the Report on the Engineering and Operating Features of the Chicago Transportation Problem, by Bion J. Arnold, 48 pages. Maps and diagrams.

Sub-Edwards Railway Rapid Transit System, by J. H. Farrar, 30 pages. 1907.

Report on Transportation Subways, Department of Public Works, 3 volumes, 284 pages. Maps, plates, and diagrams.

Subways, George W. Jackson, 21 pages. Maps and diagrams.

Proposed Initial Passenger Subways, R. C. St. John, 48 pages. Plans and diagrams.

1912.

Joint report on comprehensive system of passenger subways for the city of Chicago by the harbor and subways commission and subcommittees of the council committee on local transportation, 14 pages.

Report on Passenger Subway and Elevated Railroad Development in Chicago, Charles K. Mohler, 44 pages.

1915.

Chicago Subway plans, Henry A. Goetz, 26 pages. Tables and diagrams.

1916.

The Parsons-Ridgeway-Arnold report, 113 pages. Tables, maps and diagrams.

1917.

Plans for the subways and new rapid transit lines of Chicago, Jarvis Hunt, 27 pages. Illustrations and diagrams.

1922.

Sexton, Frank and Foster report, 1923.

Report on a physical plan for a unified transportation system for the city of Chicago, R. F. Kelker, 175 pages, 17 figures, 17 plates, 13 tables.

Report to local transportation committee on immediate construction of subways, R. F. Kelker, 15 pages.

In estimating the expenditures involved in the preparation of these reports, the city council's appropriations from the transit fund during the period from 1911 to 1926 was first considered. This figure as it appears in the report of the city controller for 1926 is $1,137,055. In addition to this amount there is the $250,000 expended in the preparation of the 1908 report; the $50,000 spent for Arnold's 1902 report and $44,161, which according to Carter Harrison in his annual message of 1915, represented the actual payment to the Arnold company for subway work.

No Assessment Plan.

In comparing these multitudinous reports with the proposed Faherty plan, which has now been delayed if not killed, it is pointed out that the former are not regular assessment plans, which it was projected that the Faherty outline should be. None of the reports in the municipal reference library contain valuations of property adjacent to and benefited by the proposed subway. These features were to have been included in the Faherty plan.

8 Drowned, River Beaches Closed in Forest Preserves

President Anton J. Cermak of the county board yesterday ordered a ban on swimming in the Des Plaines river in the forest preserves because of the flood waters. Eight persons have been drowned in the stream since July 1. M. E. Szymczak, general superintendent of the preserves, said that some of the beaches will probably be reopened on Sunday, if there is no rain in the meantime. The body of James Norris, 20 years old, 1818 North Nottingham avenue, who was drowned on Sunday, was recovered yesterday by Chief L. Groth of the Schiller Park police.

500 RESIDENTS AT FETE FOR NEW POLICE OFFICIAL

Five hundred residents of the near north side gathered at the Chicago avenue police station last night to witness the presentation of resolutions of esteem to Lieut. George DeMar, acting commander of the district, by the Harold A. Taylor post of the American Legion. Lieut. DeMar was given the command only a short time ago. The Legion band of fifty pieces played in front of the station.

SOUTH SIDE ADDS TO SMITH'S LEAD IN STRAW VOTING

Poll of Theaters Shows Al Has Most Friends.

Chicago Straw Vote
Candidate	Previous Year's Total	For each day, reported	Per cent
Smith	1,400	1,400	68.42
Hoover	650	650	31.58
Thompson	222	222	10.00
Total	1,272	1,272	100.00

BY OSCAR HEWITT.

A pre-campaign poll of leading south side movie theaters, fairly well distributed among the nineteen wards in that division, yesterday showed Al Smith in the lead for the presidency. That present advantage is substantial. In a collection of the views of 4,064 persons the New York governor received a plurality of 534 straws.

In this canvass there is a difference of 12.13 points between the percentages of Hoover and Smith. This, translated into probable voters on the south side, indicates that Smith at present has 43,300 more friends than Hoover, according to this poll of one day. That figure is undoubtedly high. The list of theaters polled, presented below, shows that the test is deficient in movies attended exclusively by colored citizens. If a fairer sample of the colored voters were a part of this poll, the Smith advantage would be smaller.

Smith the More Popular.

But taking into consideration not only today's straws but also all south side figures to date, it is indicated that Smith is now more popular than Hoover among straw voters of the south section. All the figures combined do not represent that Smith is 43,300 ahead, as yesterday's work indicated. It is several thousand too high. Incidentally, it is a long time to the November election, and views may be modified substantially.

The straws for yesterday may be summarized as follows:

Candidate	Party	Straws	Per cent
Herbert C. Hoover, Rep.	Rep.	1,740	43.04
Alfred E. Smith, Dem.	Dem.	3,283	56.97
Norman M. Thompson, Soc.	Soc.	35	.78
Totals		4,064	100.00

It may be recalled that the Socialist candidate in the first poll, on the north side, received 2.70 per cent of the ballot. Yesterday he dropped down to a trifle more than three-quarters of one per cent. There are two indications that Smith is the gainer from the Thomas loss, but the information is insufficient to gain a definite opinion on that phase of the poll. Perhaps later canvasses will show what is happening to the Thomas following.

Results of Theater Poll.

As an extra precaution, two vote takers were sent to both the Tivoli and Tower theaters and they both came back with approximately the same results. The straws taken by all four men are presented above.

The Wet and Dry Issue.

The apparently high percentage for Smith in the day's poll, after making allowances for general defects, may have an explanation in the attitude of certain local Republicans toward Herbert Hoover, but that is regarded as improbable so early in the campaign. It is much more likely that the wet and dry issue is at present the dominating one.

Mayor Thompson, who ran for reelection as a wet, received 221,715 votes on the south side as compared with 136,434 for former Mayor Dever. Thompson's margin of 41,955 last year is comparable with the 43,300 lead of Smith in the above poll. Thompson's plurality in the city was 32,000.

Brennan Victory Recalled.

The election before that was in November, 1924. In that contest

George E. Brennan, national cattle commissioner and an anti-wet, won the south side as he did this section he received 138,444 for Frank L. Smith, who carried Chicago by about 10,000 votes.

In that same election the wet, risk J. Carr was elected mayor by a plurality on the south side of 134 and a lead of 115,124 in the city. Mr. Carr was known as a wet. A number of other illustrations of the same kind are available. It is apparent that many straw voters have that Al Smith can provide what he again is a legitimate wet.

TAMMANY TOLD TO HIDE OUT OF SMITH PICTURE

Keep Quiet and Deliver
New York, Its Orders.

BY JAMES O'DONNELL BENNETT.
(Chicago Tribune Press Service.)

New York, July 12.—[Special.]—Tammany got its orders this evening. It is to keep out of the national campaign and strictly devote itself to carrying for Smith by at least half a million plurality the five metropolitan boroughs of Manhattan, Queens, Bronx, Kings, and Richmond. Tammany is aiming at doing its assigned task by at least 600,000.

George K. Morris, chairman of the New York state Republican committee, says that Herbert Hoover must come in the Bronx with a plurality of 600,000 in order to carry the state.

Tammany does not believe that he will or can do anything of the kind, but it is willing to accept Morris' Hoover estimate as the figure it must overcome by the plurality it intends to pile up for Smith in the five metropolitan boroughs.

Tiger Put in Place.
In no doubtful language it has been broken to the tiger that the less conspicuous it is in the national campaign the better it will be for the Democratic party as a national organization.

Absence of the names of Tammany veterans on the newly organized campaign committees and sub-committees that will direct the nation-wide drive for Al Smith, show how menacing the party magnates considered Tammany's participation in that drive. Tammany has been shown to its place as an intensely localized organization and has been told to stay there.

George Brennan acknowledged that his presidential candidate's use of Prohibition Isn't an Issue, Women Democrats Assert

New York, July 12.—[Special.]—The women's division of the Democratic party will take the attitude in the coming campaign that prohibition is "not a party issue."

This became evident today in a statement by Mrs. Nellie Taylor Ross, former governor of Wyoming, vice chairman of the national committee and chairman of the women's division.

Mrs. Ross ruled prohibition out of the Democratic campaign so far as the women of the south and middle west are concerned, after a general committee conference with nine national committeewomen, in which Gov. Smith joined.

Her move is regarded as an attempt to reconcile Democratic women voters in states where, in the past, they have formed a bulwark for prohibition.

Argument Used in South.
This argument already has been advanced in Democratic strongholds in the south and southwest. It is, in outline, that Gov. Smith, if he were elected President, would be powerless to himself to alter the 18th amendment "ain't" had become, among certain malicious sections of the electorate, a campaign issue.

"But," he added, "there's a good deal of 'ain't' in all of us when we are at ease with ourselves and with other people. And the governor is always at ease with himself—and with other people! He's no stuffed shirt. I think 'ain't' does him more good than harm. I'd hate to see him written about as a stuffed shirt. I know he'd hate it, too."

Anyway, nobody has scared the governor away from "ain't" on the one hand or persuaded him to use it when he does not wish to on the other. He used it emphatically today.

During this afternoon's visit with the newspaper correspondents there were read to him extracts from Chairman Raskob's acknowledgment of last night that "quite obviously, prohibition would be a major campaign is-or even the Volstead act, that he would need the support of congress and the people to change these laws. Mrs. Ross' stand took on more significance because she herself is a staunch dry. The majority of women who attended today's conference come from states that are dry politically and were long before the enactment of the eighteenth amendment.

"The minds of the women of this country must be disabused of certain prejudices and false impressions," Mrs. Ross declared. "I believe firmly in prohibition myself but despite the objection of prohibition into the campaign."

Strive Not to Mislead.
"We are not misled by the propaganda that is being spread abroad about Gov. Smith, and it will be our duty to see that others are not misled."

"How much better it is to have a man who does not equivocate at the head of the nation, who says what he means, and whose views he is not afraid to make known."

"Gov. Smith has promised to enforce the law, and the people of this country have only to look at his record to know that he is going to enforce the law."

So much was read out to Al Smith, who, careless and waistcoatless, freely chewed a cigar and mopped away the dew of another muggy day. Addressing the reader, he said:

"Now, George, there ain't any use of going over and having an interview with a man like Raskob and then coming over and asking me what I think about what he says."

"Yes, but is he making an issue for you?"
"Every plank in the Democratic platform is an issue, and they will all be dealt with in my speech of acceptance."

But what with the heat—which severely tried Al Smith—and the collapse of his new music box, this day's press conference was entirely ruined for him. The new music box was on the table in front of him when our little group—grown in the last 24 hours from 15 to 25—entered his reception room on the 14th floor of the Sullivan. "When you touch a spring a panel of the contraption is supposed to open and proffer you a cigar to an accompaniment of 'The Sidewalks of New York.'"

Al presses the spring.
"Howdy, everybody!" says Al and presses the spring.

Silence.
Picture of an utterly crestfallen candidate.

He shakes the box. He presses it feverishly, even passionately, on all its sides. He rattles it angrily.

Not a sound, not a cigar, emerges. "Funny thing!" says Al intently. "It's been here 24 hours and been working fine."

Again he nurses and fondles and cajoles the treacherous toy.

No luck.
The sweat is pouring down his face. "Never mind," says a kind reporter. "Never mind, governor, we get the idea anyhow."

"Yes," groans the perspiring governor, "but wouldn't you like to get a cigar? You can't smoke an idea!"

In the even, detached voice of Irwin Thomas, veteran political observer, there came from a corner of the room the words—very softly spoken:
"Some of 'em can, governor."

Al Smith pushes the top aside and laughs loud and long—a great, hearty guffaw that makes him and all of us forget the heat.

Chicago to Hear Him Once.
Chicago is going to hear him speak only once during the campaign. That was another of today's decisions. For already his original schedule of 15 old-fashioned, formal campaign speeches in a big hall has been cut down to ten.

Today he made it clear that he was not going to have his voice reduced to a whisper by excess of speaking. But the governor will give numerous radio talks. That is a kind of campaigning he

Mr. Brennan says that Senator Robinson will be pushed forward as principal rough and tumble campaign speechifier in view of Al Smith's decision to cut his program.

Col. Herbert H. Lehman of New York, new chairman of the party's finance committee, and, like Raskob, an epitome of big business, which Al is wishful to reassure, announced that his committee will soon make "a very widespread appeal for campaign funds."

IT COSTS AMERICAN FAMILY $134 A YEAR TO BE ILL, SAYS DOCTOR

PARIS, July 12.—[AP.]—Dr. Homer Folks, New York, in a report to the International Conference of Social Work today, estimated that illness in the United States costs each family $134.48 annually. The cost per capita he estimated at $11.03.

Of the fifteen billion dollar yearly illness cost, more than 93 per cent of the burden is borne by the patients and their families, said Dr. Folks. Yet the country, he said, is spending only about $75,000,000 a year for prevention of illness.

Of the $3,729,925,396 he estimated as the annual total costs of all kinds up to the date of recovery or death, Dr. Folks said physicians received $745,000,000, "quacks" $120,000,000, hospitals $404,501,572, and medicines and supplies $700,000,000. Loss of wages, $1,245,000,000.

The total loss of future net earnings of persons dying prematurely from illness he placed at twelve billion dollars.

PEACOCK, ONE OF THOSE CARNEGIE MADE RICH, DIES

New York, July 12.—[AP.]—The death of Alexander Rowland Peacock, former department store clerk who became a vice president of the Carnegie Steel company and was said to have been made a millionaire overnight, was announced today. He died of pneumonia at St. Vincent's hospital after an illness of two weeks.

Mr. Peacock was considered one of the most picturesque of the forty or more men whom Andrew Carnegie was credited with having made millionaires more than a quarter of a century ago.

Born in Dunfermlie, Scotland, 65 years ago, Mr. Peacock came to America when a boy. Attracted by his Scotch dialect when she met him in a New York department store where he was a clerk, Mrs. Carnegie learned that he came from the town where her husband was born. She told her husband and a short time later the youth became an employee of the Carnegie Steel company, later being made vice president in charge of sales. His fortune at one time was estimated at between $10,000,000 and $20,000,000.

HOME FOLK HEAR FLOYD THOMPSON RIP UP HIS FOES

Revives Interest Issue in State Campaign.

BY JAMES DOHERTY.
Floyd Thompson was not running for governor of Illinois as a Democrat last night. Neither was he Supreme Court Justice Floyd Thompson.

Democrat nominee for governor, he simply Floyd Thompson, the boy from Greene county who has come up in the world.

"What difference does it make to the people whether a Democrat or a Republican is elected governor?" he asked a hundred or so of the folks who came from Greene county to make Chicago their home and who have formed an organization to honor Floyd Thompson.

"I don't think it necessary to make any special appeal to you folks for your votes," he told them. "You, Bill, you Fred, you Ray, have known me all my life. We were a small community where life is different than in a big city. There every one knows all about every one else."

Not Belying on Jefferson.

"I wouldn't expect you to vote for me because Jefferson wrote the constitution, because Andrew Jackson won the battle of New Orleans or because Woodrow Wilson gave us the federal reserve act."

"What difference does it make whether a candidate's folks came from Holland or Sweden. The governor has nothing to do with the tariff, nothing to do with foreign relations. He is elected to run your business."

"I wouldn't want you to hold my opponent responsible for the whiskey scandals of the Grant administration, the panic under Harrison or the recent oil graft. What's the difference whether your grandfather voted for Abraham Lincoln and therefore you and your father always vote Republican."

Not in Politics for Money.

"My opponent was rated at $40,000 when he was elected governor, but State twelve years ago. Now he is rated as a millionaire on a salary of $7,500 a year. He must be some sort of a business man. I have held public office for sixteen years and I haven't any money. In that respect I'm a business failure."

"But I am not running for office to make money."

Until now the Greene county lad, who was chief justice of the Illinois Supreme court in his early 30's, had not been making a campaign speech. He had talked of what a great man Al Smith is, how Smith rose from humble birth and surroundings, overcame obstacles and temptations, and has become today one of the outstanding national figures.

Praise for Hoover, Curtiss.

The other three outstanding national figures, Hoover, Curtiss and Robinson, had come to the top in the same way, Thompson of Greene county gave praise. Honesty and decency in public life is far more important than the party label, he had asserted. Then, towards the end of his talk at the Hotel Sherman, he turned his attention to "the scoundrels."

The Republican state candidates were named repeatedly as Candidate Thompson reviewed the interest scandals. Emmerson, Carleton and Sterling, he had blame for them all, as well as Gov. Small.

"You may get tired of hearing all this," he interjected, "but I'm going to keep saying it all summer and give them all summer to answer. They can't silence me by threats. You'll continue to hear of the $30,000,000 that passed through Ed Curtis' hat, which they called the Grant Park bank."

"I have been told about the great political majority I have to overcome to be elected. But I'm not afraid of political majorities. I have been through them before."

JUDGE REFUSES PLEA TO MODIFY EXPERTS DECREE

Four Defendants Granted
Leave to Appeal.

Circuit Judge Hugo M. Friend yesterday overruled a motion by the defense to modify his decree which ordered Mayor Thompson and others to return $2,245,604 to the city treasury. The first point raised in the motion was that the defendants should not be held liable for $682,537 in interest on the $1,782,278 that they took from the taxpayers for their personal benefit and to further the campaign of the Thompson political machine, according to allegations sustained by the court.

This argument was successfully opposed by Attorney Howard Ellis of counsel for Tax TROUSERS, which brought the suit as a taxpayer for the benefit of all taxpayers.

Asks Deduction of Tax.
Attorney W. C. Graves, who presented the motion for the defense, then asked the court to deduct from the decree $247,817 that had been paid under protest as income tax by Arthur S. Merigold and Ernest H. Lyons, who made restitution and were dismissed as defendants before the end of the lengthy trial. The lawyer contended that Merigold and Lyons should be given credit for having turned this money back to the city since they have turned over to the city their claims against the government for that sum.

Judge Friend held that the city's claim against the government for the return of the income tax was of a problematical value. It is the subject of a suit now pending in the federal court.

Granted Leave to Appeal.
With the failure of their attempts to change the decree, Defendants Thompson, George F. Harding, Michael Faherty, and Percival B. Coffin were granted leave to appeal to the Supreme court. They were joint defendants, but they elected to appeal separately and Judge Friend set their appeal bonds at $2,500,000 in each case.

The judge, in explaining the unusually large bond he required, pointed out that each defendant under his decision is held liable severally as well as jointly for the entire $2,245,604.

Defendants Edward C. Waller Jr., a realty expert, and Arnold H. Brautigan, a subexpert, and Frank J. Koch, a partner of Brautigan, did not ask for leave to appeal.

THREE SENTENCED FOR ROBBERY OF BROKER'S HOME

CRIMINAL COURT.
David Carlstrom, Arthur Wurster, and Wayne McCray, burglars, sentenced to 1 to 30 years each in the penitentiary by Judge Otto Kerner.

Three men who on April 2 looted the home of Henry C. Bartholomay, wealthy broker living at 420 Spruce street, Winnetka, were found guilty of burglary yesterday by a jury in Judge Otto Kerner's Criminal court.

A motion for a new trial was immediately overruled by the judge and sentences of from one to twenty years each in the penitentiary were imposed on David Carlstrom, 38, of 4338 Washington boulevard; Arthur Wurster, 24, of 1820 Nelson street; and Wayne McCray, 23, a former butler in the Bartholomay home.

Bartholomay and a nurse were tied up by the bandits, who also threatened to shoot the 4 year old son of the broker. The house was looted of $18,000 worth of jewelry.

LOUIS WEISBROD
TELLS OF MACHINE
GUN DEAL; FREED

Louis Weisbrod, known as the human target, was discussed yesterday by George A. Curran in the South Clark street court on a charge of helping for his own use a machine gun he had agreed to sell for Peter Van Praetorius, 608 Diversey parkway.

Weisbrod produced a bill of sale in court showing that the Hawthorne Kennel club had bought the gun. This club was once said to have been under the control of Al Capone, gangster now living on his estate near Miami, Fla.

Weisbrod has several times been in police custody charged with manipulating machine guns. In court yesterday he told Judge Curran, who is a son of State Representative Curran, follower of Gov. Small in the legislature, that the charges against him were untrue.

ORDERS INQUIRY INTO SHELLING OF YACHT PARTY

Buffalo Protests Force Treasury Action.

(Chicago Tribune Press Service.)
Washington, D. C., July 12.—(Special.)—Seymour Lowman, assistant secretary of the treasury in charge of prohibition enforcement, today ordered an investigation into the shelling of the pleasure motor yacht Trickie by a coast guard patrol boat operating on Lake Erie near Buffalo.

The inquiry was ordered after Representative Clarence MacGregor (Rep., N. Y.) of Buffalo had filed a vigorous protest with the treasury department against the "high handed activities of the coast guard." MacGregor asserted that the coast guard acted unlawfully when it fired several shots at the pleasure motor yacht while it was cruising last Sunday afternoon.

Senator Copeland (Dem., N. Y.) made a similar complaint today to officers of the coast guard.

Dozens of other complaints from Buffalo have reached Mr. Lowman, and pressure is being brought on the treasury department to halt the indiscriminate firing on pleasure craft by commanders of coast guard patrol boats on the great lakes.

Another Victim Near Death.
The circumstances that the firing on the Trickie occurred at a time when the life of Jacob Hanson, another Buffalo coast guard victim, is hanging in the balance, added to the indignation expressed in the protests reaching Washington.

Despite an inquiry having been ordered, the critics of the treasury department's enforcement policies, fear it will be only perfunctory and barren of results.

Their pessimism is based partly on Mr. Lowman's assertion today that his preliminary investigation indicates that the crew of the coast guard patrol boat "acted entirely within their authority and instructions."

The treasury assistant emphatically upheld the right of the coast guard patrol to fire directly upon a craft suspected as a rum runner.

Plead Suspicion.
According to Mr. Lowman, the patrol boat thought the Trickie, on which several prominent Buffalo people were enjoying a holiday, was a rum runner. As a matter of fact, Frank G. Raiche, law partner of Col. William J. Donovan, first assistant attorney general, Clarence K. Piatt, investment banker, William T. Jebb Jr., vice president of Associated Industries, and a party of friends were aboard the craft.

"Under the tariff act of 1922," said Mr. Lowman, "the coast guard is given authority to examine all vessels and vehicles suspected of smuggling liquor or any contraband. In case any vessel refuses to submit to search or to stop when signaled, the coast guard has the authority to use all necessary force to compel compliance."

"From the reports made in this case it is evident the coast guard signalled the Trickie to heave to and the yacht refused to obey."

Positive Yacht Was at Fault.
"Are you sure that the yacht saw the signal?" Mr. Lowman was asked. "The members of the party say they saw the signal," answered Lowman.

"Wasn't it dangerous to fire on the yacht?" was the next question. "In most persons might have been killed."

"The boat should have stopped," answered the treasury assistant. "The coast guard, from all I have heard, acted fully within its authority."

Mr. Lowman said that instructions had been sent several weeks ago to all coast guard commanders warning them to disturb pleasure craft as little as possible unless suspicion was founded against a particular boat.

BOY TRIPS, FALLS
UNDER WHEELS OF
TRUCK AND DIES

Water Duda, 13 years old, tripped to his death when he was run over by a truck driven by Burdett Talbot, of Valparaiso, Ind., and was killed.

The boy's death and one other during the day brought Cook county's 1935 motor toll up to $23.

Joseph Ryan, 43 years old, 1154 North La Salle street, was knocked twenty feet and killed instantly by an automobile that struck him at 31st avenue and Lake street, Melrose park. The motorist did not slacken speed and eluded pursuit by Police Officer Daniel Bond.

Thomas Webb, banker of Peoria, suffered a fractured skull in an automobile wreck near Belvidere, Ill.

FALL FROM TREE FATAL TO BOY.
A fall from a tree he was climbing July 9 proved fatally yesterday to Edward Kepka, 11, of 1206 W. 12th street, in the Alston section.

THE

HINES HOSPITAL CROWDING UNTIL 1947 IS PREDICTED

Statistics Indicate Steady
Increase for 19 Years.

The Hines Memorial hospital, Maywood, will be obliged to accommodate a steadily increasing number of war veterans until the peak is reached in 1947 and the $1,550,000 annex now under construction will be greatly needed before then, Col. Hugh Scott, the hospital head, declared yesterday.

The steady increase is an outgrowth of the Reed-Johnson bill of 1924 which admits for hospitalization all ex-servicemen of all wars, regardless of whether their disabilities were incurred in the service. Statistical experts arrived at the 1947 estimate through a study of the records, and it is believed that that year will see the peak.

864 of 984 Beds Filled.

Under the Reed-Johnson bill, presentation to any government hospital of an honorable discharge by a former service man entitles the holder to care and treatment.

Our present capacity is but 984 beds, and today we have something like 865 patients, fully two-thirds of whom are here by virtue of the 1924 legislation," said Col. Scott.

The addition to the hospital is expected to be finished by the fall of 1929. This annex is planned to house the officers, employees and nurses, and will furnish equipment for the caring of a total of between 1,500 and 1,600 patients when completed, Col. Scott said.

Records show that about one-third of the present 26,935 veterans under the care of the various government hospitals were admitted under the rulings of the Reed-Johnson act. The high percentage of admittances in the Hines hospital was credited to the fact the institution here gathers its patients, not only from Chicago, but also from a broad area of the middle west.

Hospital Bill and Bonus.

One observer, while admitting the net benefit to ex-service men that followed enactment of the Reed-Johnson measure, recalled that at the time a number of prominent politicians supported the bill under the idea that it would make a federal bonus to veterans unnecessary.

"But if it was passed to beat the bonus, it failed in its purpose," said this man. "No doubt many an indigent veteran, who left military service in sound health, has praised the wisdom of that legislation. It has proved a boon to many who happened to be short of money upon needing hospital care and treatment."

Since the opening of the Hines hospital on Aug. 1, 1921, the institution has cared for a total of more than 21,000 ex-service men, Col. Scott said. Large donations on the part of Edward Hines, wealthy Chicago lumber dealer, made possible the establishment of the hospital. Mr. Hines aided in building the hospital as a memorial to his son, Edward Hines Jr., a first lieutenant of the American expeditionary force, who died from exposure while in active service in France.

NEW X-RAY UNIT IS COMPLETED AT COUNTY HOSPITAL

Embodying the latest developments in X-ray equipment and representing an expenditure of $25,000, the improved X-ray unit of the Cook County hospital has just been completed, a hospital bulletin said yesterday.

Five rooms have been added to the unit for examinations, and another room has been set aside for an X-ray therapy machine. All the rooms have been walled with lead as a protection to operators and patients, and the floor and ceiling of the sixth room have been insulated with that metal. The unit will operate day and night and has a capacity of 150 patients each twenty-four hours, the bulletin said. Dr. C. H. Warfield has been appointed director by the county board.

ITALY DEDICATES WAR MEMORIAL; AUSTRIA ANGRY

"Victory Only Milestone," Minister Says.

BALZANO, Italy, July 12.—(AP)—Inaugurating a memorial to the Italian victory in the world war, in the presence of King Victor Emmanuel and the royal princes, Sig. Giurati, minister of public works, today said:

"The victory of Vittorio Veneto over Austria is only a milestone along the road Italy is determined to follow."

The minister said that a people as great as the Italians "cannot tolerate that its frontiers, erected by God, may even be discussed, cannot admit the infinitesimal minorities filtered through the centuries into some of the Italian provinces may be a pretext for such discussion." He said the victory over Austria was not the final goal, but a limited objective.

"We Italians, we war veterans of the Fascist, are obeying the command of our race. Here, before your majesty who impersonates the nation, before this altar which is a testimonial to our glory, our right, before God, who reigns in our hearts, we swear to arm our spirits, and with discipline resume our march if your majesty once again launches an appeal."

Demonstrate Against Italy.
[Chicago Tribune Free Service.]
INNERSBURG, Tyrol, July 12.—Simultaneously with the unveiling of a monument by the Fascist government at Bolzano, tens of thousands of people staged a great anti-Italian demonstration at Berg Isel, before the monument of Andreas Hofer, Tyrol's hero. The inscription on the Italian monument at Bolzano reads: "Here are the frontiers of the fatherland. From here we defeated others with our language, our laws, and our arms."

288 Mayors Protest.
VIENNA, Austria, July 12.—(AP)—Dr. Ignaz Seipel, chancellor of Austria, was occupying a shaky post to night as the result of developments in the anti-Italian feelings of the Tyrol. He was unable to satisfy the mayors of 288 towns in the south Tyrol who, accompanied by a delegation of deputies from that district, called on him to protest against inscriptions on an Italian war monument dedicated by King Victor Emmanuel today.

The 288 mayors left in outspoken indignation. They said Dr. Seipel had again surrendered to "Mussolini's unsavable ambitions," and that these ambitions know no bounds since "every point he makes is conceded by Austria in order to placate Il Duce."

COLLINS VICTOR OVER CREDITORS IN SOLVENCY SUIT

Thomas D. Collins, millionaire builder, yesterday won his suit for solvency when a jury, after deliberating three hours, returned a verdict favorable to him before Federal Judge George A. Carpenter. This was the first time in ten years, according to attaches of the court, that a defendant in bankruptcy proceedings has put his fate in the hands of a jury.

A petition in involuntary bankruptcy was filed against Collins in May alleging that he was incapable of paying his bills. The suit involved $12,000,000 worth of Chicago property and was brought into federal court on Collins' petition to have the bankruptcy proceedings set aside. Interspersed throughout the story of finances, mortgages and mortgages were incidents in the career of the American Citizenship Foundation and charges of conspiracy to freeze Collins out of his holdings in three buildings.

Mayor's Aid Is Named.
Charges that the petitioning creditors and others were conspiring to rob Collins of his holdings in the Sarnia hotel, and the Barry and Cornell apartment buildings and that they were using the Federal court as an instrument to that end, were made by Attorney John K. Murphy, representing the defendant, in his opening statement to the jury last week. John J. Murphy, secretary of Mayor Thompson's America First foundation, and formerly associated with Collins in the firm of Collins, Murphy & Jackson, was named as the leading light in the conspiracy against

METHODISTS TO BUILD SKYSCRAPER SHRINE OVER 'CRADLE' CHURCH

New York, July 12.—(Special.)—A skyscraper shrine for American Methodists will be erected at an estimated cost of $2,500,000 on top of the historic "Old John Street church," according to tentative plans. The old edifice on John street will not be disturbed. Called "the cradle of American Methodism," and cherished as the oldest Methodist church in the country, it will be perpetuated in a thirty-story building.

The skyscraper will straddle the four-story, brownstone little church which has weathered so many years in the heart of New York's insurance and financial district. National executive offices of the church will occupy many of the floors.

Collins. Following the dissolution of the firm, which erected the three buildings, Murphy, it was charged, became associated with Paschen Bros. builders, and conspired with them to "freeze" out Collins.

Collins' liabilities are estimated at millions of dollars, as there are large outstanding loans on the three buildings.

Plan to Carry on Fight.
The creditors, among whom was Jacob Paschen, whose claim was a note for $24,000 signed by Collins, based their complaint that Collins' equity in the buildings was covered by mortgages and that he had no assets with which to satisfy other creditors.

The case, which was termed by Judge Carpenter as a "business family quarrel," may be carried to the United States Circuit Court of Appeals.

BAY STATE PLANS NO NEW ROADS, BUT WIDER ONES

Strict Traffic Rules; Ford Offer Accepted.

BY PUTNEY HAIGHT.

(Chicago Tribune Press Service.)
Boston, Mass., July 12.—(Special.)—The commonwealth of Massachusetts has decided definitely to abandon activities in new road construction. The fifteen millions of dollars it receives from automobile licenses annually and the proceeds of the gasoline tax which go into effect soon are to be expended instead for widening the existing road building wider bridges on roads of lesser importance and perhaps relocating portions of main traveled arteries.

The state also is to go in for concrete construction to some extent. A. W. Dean, chief engineer of the highway department, has devised a type of road in which that permanent material finds an important place. Mr. Dean has designed future bituminous roads with a view of salvaging as much of the bituminous surface as possible. The bituminous paving has been almost universal in Massachusetts road building.

Use Old Bituminous Strip.
Because of the substantial character of the 200 and 300 year old roads of the region, which have been repaired and resurfaced frequently in each century, the plan Mr. Dean has worked out is to build two ten-foot strips of concrete along the sides of the center bituminous strip. This will produce a 40-foot driving surface of enduring character. The bituminous portion will be solidly locked and prevented from chipping under the heaviest traffic.

There are nine radial thoroughfares with the main arteries centering in Boston. All of these have been widened in some portion to at least three lanes of travel, and some to four. They permit an immense volume of traffic to pass safely at a high rate of speed. On most of them counts show that 8,000 cars an hour can be handled under ordinary conditions.

No Cutting In and Out.
In two-lane travel the authorities have prohibited the practice of cutting in and out to pass cars ahead. On three-lane roads the two outside lanes are designated for steady traffic and the center lane is used as a side ground for passing cars.

On the narrow roads where cutting out is a cause for arrest the public clamor is insistent for wider roads. The state intends to accede to the demand.

Three lanes are better than two and four are better than three," E. H. Rogers, chief engineer of the metropolitan planning division which deals with problems of the greater Boston area, said. "It has been found that fully 75 per cent of motor accidents were caused last year by cutting in and out."

Wide Roads Pay.
"Our authorities have come to the conclusion that wide roads are practical and safe. They are satisfied to move slowly at first on the theory that if you give the public width in roads it will demand and get length."

"Most of our important roads now are built with 20 to 24 feet of rough or smooth finish bituminous surfacing, with a 6 foot hard shoulder on each side, giving widths ranging from 12 to 24 feet. In some places, especially at curves, they are widened to 40 and 41 feet. This, however, is insufficient for the traffic of today, and will not hold in any satisfactory way the traffic of tomorrow."

Accept Ford's Offer.
The state officials have finally decided to accept the offer of Henry Ford to build a 180 foot wide concrete roadway in the vicinity of Longfellow's Wayside Inn, near Marlboro. Mr. Ford believes that traffic on the existing road, which is close to the structure, will be close to the structure, and proposes to build a 180 foot wide highway on a relocated right of way a few hundred feet distant. The highway officials thought it would make the connecting state roads look rather shabby and would produce a reversed bottle neck at each end. But they have finally acceded, however.

In and about Boston the dual type of driveways, with parkways in the center, predominate in official favor. The Boston boulevard system appears vastly more efficient and of more mileage than the park boulevards of Chicago.

Although the subject of much criticism by casual observers, Boston's automobile traffic in and out of the city is much faster and much safer than that in Chicago.

SERBIA PEASANTS APPROVE CABINET—PEACE ASSURED

Three Races Will Be Represented.

BELGRADE, Jugo-Slavia, July 12.—(AP)—Gaining a decided victory through a promise that the present national assembly will be dissolved, leaders of the Croat peasant party today withdrew their opposition to a transition "cabinet of experts."

They agreed to support such a cabinet, on which the Croats would have equal representation with the Serbs. The Slovenes, a third race of the Triune kingdom, also will be represented.

The Croat leaders pointed out that they had taken this action in fulfillment of their pledge to devote the utmost loyalty to King Alexander.

Plan Dual Monarchy.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.] AGRAM, Jugo-Slavia, July 12.—A plan for the organization of a dual monarchy, similar to that of Austria-Hungary before the war, has been formed by the Croatian peasant party, according to the newspaper Pravda. The constitution which the Croats are desirous to submit to parliament, divides Jugo-Slavia into two parts, the first consisting of old Serbia, and the second of the territories added to Serbia during the war. Although the countries would be connected under the same king, both would possess local autonomy.

NEW YORK HANGS HEAD IN SHAME AT CRIME WAVE

121 Killings in 1928; Only 21 Convictions.

BY TOM PETTEY.

(Chicago Tribune Press Service.)
New York, July 12.—(Special.)—Civic virtue, New York City's marble man, who stands triumphant over vice and crime, is hanging his chieled head today. Things are not going so well in old Father Knickerbocker's home town.

There is an air of shame reflected in the city's courts, newspaper columns, and at gatherings of commercial organizations that was not apparent a few weeks ago. New York no longer can wag a warning finger at Chicago's crime and immorality. Its own wickedness has cropped out in a dangerous, startling manner.

The gangs that officially were pronounced dead have come to life and left a long string of murders behind them. There have been 121 homicides and only 21 convictions in the first five months of 1928.

The night clubs, speakeasies, and the sidewalks of the upper Times Square section have been found to be vice infested by official investigators. Even the art exhibits in some of the hotel lobbies have been declared obscene.

All of which is causing considerable animosity to meet the defenders of the city's good name. A public clamor for the return to old time measures—the revival of the strong arm squad and the anti-loafing law—is disturbing police headquarters.

Prosecutor Rebuffed.
But so far Commissioner Warren has refused to admit that there is so much as one gang in New York. While Mayor Walker is playing in California and the police and detectives are waiting, "What can we do? Our hands are tied," Commissioner Warren and his aids still are seeking to discount New York's gang war and blame it all on the Chicago underworld.

District Attorney McGuinness has issued a warning against the handling of New York gangsters with kid gloves, which brought an immediate rebuff from Mr. Warren. The commissioner in effect told Mr. McGuinness to mind his own business.

Today District Attorney Dodd of Brooklyn offered a word of suggestion which so far has been received with silence. "Do you want to know how to stop this crime?" asked Mr. Dodd. "I'll tell you. Reenact the anti-loafing law. Give the police power to arrest every idle person. Some of that class have plenty of money. You will find them around race tracks, in poolrooms, and lounging in doorways on corners. If we had a law such as we had during the war period, it would permit the police to clean out these thugs."

But while police and detectives in the ranks were begging for the right "to break the heads and hearts of the thugs with their night sticks," the police powers were giving out new statements that the arms and munitions as well as the slayers of Frankie Uale, the last gunman to die, came from Chicago. In a detailed report headquarters said that the shotgun, automatic pistol, and ammunition used in the Uale murder came from the arsenal of Scarface Al Capone at Cicero, Ill. Headquarters has rejected the New York underworld story that Uale's own Brooklyn gang killed him because he was a double-crosser. The police higher-ups are insisting that the "job" was done by "experienced and trusted Chicago assassins."

But New York's gangland, which Commissioner Warren refuses to recognize, is sticking to its story that the late Mr. Uale furnished police protection to the clients of his spaghetti house speakeasies, cigar stand gambling exchanges, dope peddling drug stores, and ice cream parlors, which were gathering places for street women and that he died when he became too greedy. They say his "members" virtually were immune to police interference.

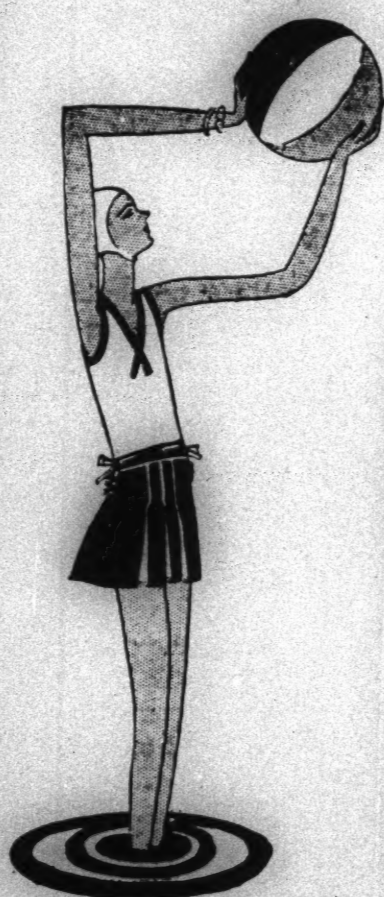

Headquarters Calm.
Headquarters maintained its accustomed calm today and Commissioner Warren had nothing to say about local conditions. "The department report for the first six months of 1928 will be ready soon," he told questioners, "and it will give the correct figures on homicides and other crimes."

As for District Attorney McGuinness, he is not the police commissioner. Instead of advising us, let him prosecute the prisoners we turn over to him."

FIREMAN'S ARM SEVERED.
Taylorville, Ill., July 12.—(Special.)—Kimer Oliver, 31, dentist, fired from the Wabash cell under a moving train here today. His right arm was cut off.

New York, July 12. [Special.]—Heavy selling sank the main body of stocks to still lower levels as bankers proceeded to pull the purse strings a little tighter on their speculative clients.

Call money ranged at 7 per cent, moved up to 7 1/2 and then to 8 per cent. During the forenoon the banks called some $15,000,000 more in loans.

Toward the close prices rallied rather sharply on the strength of operations by holders cashing in on their profits but lost most of the gains.

Trading at times reached a stage of marked listlessness, the day's turnover amounting to only a little more than 2,500,000 shares.

Trade Is Frightened.

The attention of the street was centered strongly on the credit situation again today. The heavy selling which featured most of the session was attributed to traders frightened by the threat of a follow through by the Federal Reserve banks.

Traders were rushing to liquidate their holdings after the Federal Reserve banks refused to purchase more of the securities of the United States.

Speculators seemed to have little hope of easier conditions in the money market for weeks.

In yesterday's sensational crash, General Motors and Radio again the star performers, changing prices of the two issues in particular.

The issue of General Motors was sold in large blocks, at a net loss of 12 1/2 points from an early high of 191 1/2 and then rallied to 184 1/2, a net loss of six points for the day.

Radio, after suffering a loss of nearly three points, took the upgrade and at the finish was showing a gain of 1 1/2 points.

How's Business?

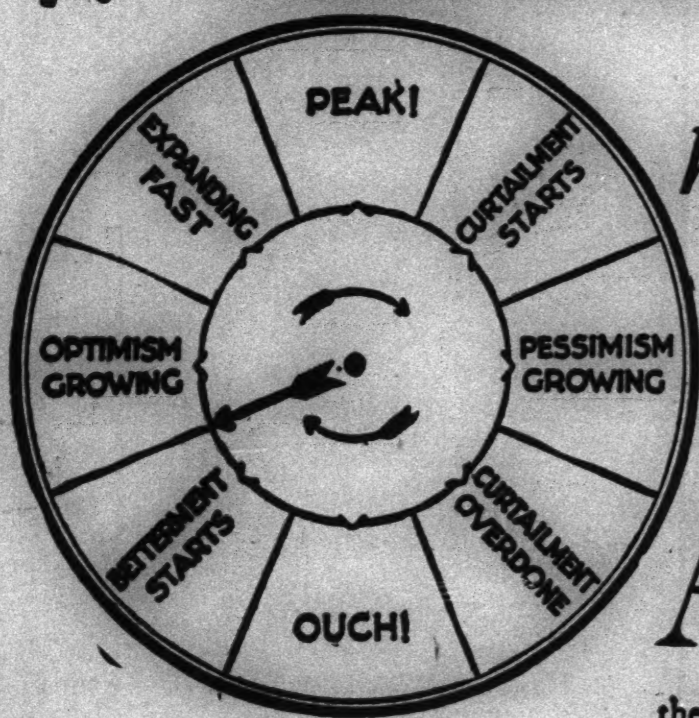

A SUMMARY OF THE JULY 10 ISSUE OF THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE SURVEY

Business continues to forge ahead

despite the stock market and politics

∴ Production and Sales are at a high level in the Chicago territory

AMERICA has just had a month of distractions. The political parties have been holding their pow-wows, arguing about their platforms and naming their candidates; the stock market has had a protracted sinking spell after an explosive five million share day; money has become a scarcer and higher priced commodity for those who want to borrow it, and larger amounts of our gold have been leaving us. And yet for the most part business has gone right on and in some instances at a higher rate than the month before.

The Daily Forecast Was Rain

One thing has hurt business. The weather has been severely, almost unprecedentedly against sales in many lines. Great gobs of torrential rain fell. On ten successive days there was unwanted water—more continuous rainy days than at any time since Chicago got to be a larger city than Philadelphia. And then it rained some more. The result was inevitable. While people buy food pretty much by the calendar, they buy clothing and a great variety of other goods by the barometer and thermometer.

More Men, More Wages, More Power, More Freight

The national freight statistics are still slightly under a year ago although high by any standard. In the Chicago Terminal District the record is very much better than that. In this community where employment has been increasing (while it was declining the country over), where factory output is topping that of a year ago (while it is somewhat lower in the United States generally), where retail sales were the best in the nation, here also freight loadings are highest. Mayset a new record for the month, just as three of the earlier months did.

The Pillars Are Strengthening

The building industry justifies expectations of a new record. Already 109 million dollars more in contracts have been awarded than a year ago in the middle west. In Chicago alone, the building wage fund will run a hundred million over 1927.

Although the period of normal decline is at hand for the automobile industry, the Ford Company continues to expand and add more labor.

And as for steel, orders and operations are sharply off from the spring peak. However, the industry had a banner half year—thanks to automobiles and building. With both going strong, steel business ought to be nothing to complain about for the rest of the year.

A Quieter Stock Market Helps the Outlook

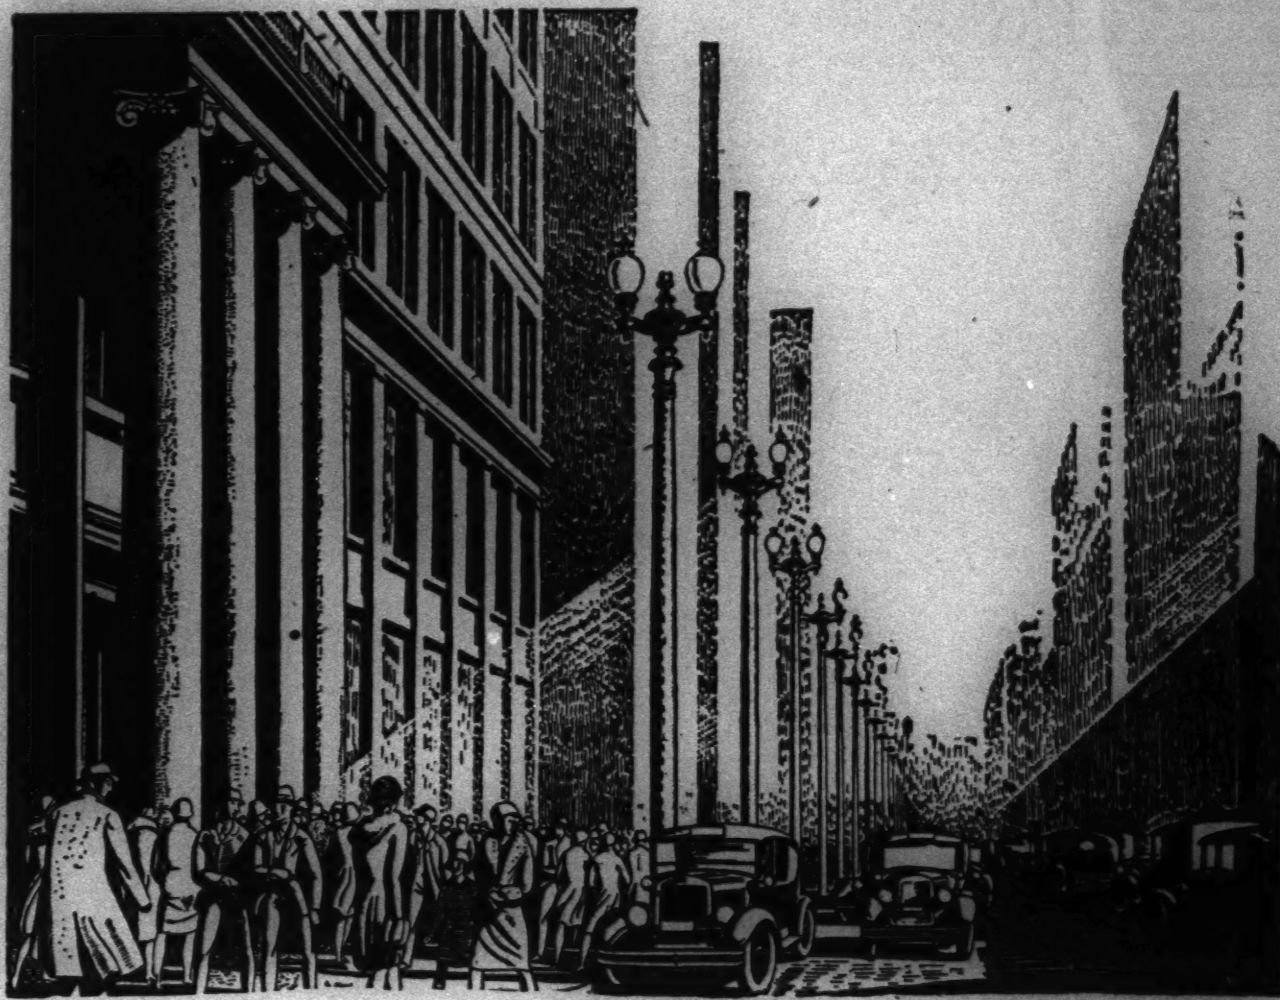

The stock market collapse ruined some pretty hopes, of course. Some homes will not be built which could have been had the paper profits been taken or the imaginary profits realized. Likewise some weddings will be delayed, some cars will not be bought, some vacations will be less pretentious, etc. All this is too bad! We're sorry for the losers. But, on the other hand, the expectancy of getting rich quick in the market has been a very bad business influence. It has kept men from giving single-minded attention to the business of making goods and selling them. With the mirage of easy money torn away, there ought to be more efficient manufacturing, and better merchandising for the rest of the year.

Putting the quietus on the stock market improves prospects in another way. It is an assurance that there will be ample money at lower rates to finance a fall business expansion and the crop movement. The continued upswing of the stock market would have taken so large a share of the nation's credit facilities as to make funds for commercial needs scarce and high.

What It All Amounts To

The weather, stock market, money conditions and politics considered, business has done remarkably well during the past thirty days. Retail trade was off on the rainy days, but much of this loss will be made up later. Productive activity nationally is on a vast scale, though not as large as last year. In the Chicago Terminal District, more goods are being produced, and moved to points of consumption than ever before. The stock market collapse was unfortunate for those caught under it. Its ultimate effect is good in getting storekeepers to concentrate upon storekeeping and manufacturers to think about manufacturing. The product market for fall continues good, with the leading industries pouring out in wages vast streams of purchasing power. As for the election, as a force in improving or hurting business, it's nil. It's just a big national sporting event.

Miss Jean MacLeish to Make Her Debut at September Tea

BY THALIA
No summer season is quite complete without, and this year is apparently no exception, the debut of Miss Jean MacLeish, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bruce MacLeish of Hubbard Woods, is to be presented to society at a tea at the lovely early American residence of the MacLeishes, Birken Craig, on Sept. 15, and that means that the festivities will extend to the gorgeous gardens around the house, even if the usual "line" doesn't function out-of-doors.
The party is set, tellingly enough, for Saturday afternoon, so that the new folks can be on hand. Following her debut, Miss MacLeish is to go to her studies at Wellesley, where she will be a sophomore this year. Then, the Christmas holidays will be one of the most important ones. Many of the most important families in Chicago are to be represented on the bud which already approaches almost 20 names, and about 20 more of the young women who will perhaps not have such spectacular social send-offs.

Last year Miss Louise Carr was presented at an all French party by her father, Robert F. Carr, at Shadow Bridge in Lake Forest, and in the previous years the debuts of Miss Daisy Smith, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Franklin P. Smith, the Scott girls, Barbara and Emily, now Mrs. Donald Phelps Welles and Mrs. F. Langdon Hubbard, respectively, who had a joint affair, and Miss Sarah Brewster, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walter S. Brewster, were notable outdoor events.
Miss MacLeish will be the first of the season's debutantes to be launched, and the season that she starts off is to be a most important one. Many of the most important families in Chicago are to be represented on the bud which already approaches almost 20 names, and about 20 more of the young women who will perhaps not have such spectacular social send-offs.

The Fort Sheridan horse show for the benefit of the Army Relief society opens at 10 o'clock this morning, with Maj. Gen. Paul B. Malone, commander of the Sixth corps area, present. More than 170 horses have been entered in the 14 classes scheduled to be shown. Mrs. Malone and Mrs. Perry L. Miles, wife of the commander of Fort Sheridan, and other women of the post are in charge of the luncheon and the tent proceeds of which will also go to the Army Relief and the fund for the education of post children. A musical ride, Roman riding by the enlisted personnel of the 14th cavalry, some exhibitions in jumping by some of the famous Culver academy black horse troop, and a concert by the "Colts," by R. O. T. C. students are among the feature events heralded. The boxholders include Mrs. D. Mark Cummings, Armin A. Schlesinger of Milwaukee, Miss Gwendolyn Jones, Lester Armour, Silas H. Strawn, A. Watson Armour, Lucius Teter, Mrs. Edward Hines, Mrs. Joseph T. Bowen Jr. and Mrs. Benjamin Leslie Behr.

The Wheaton Garden show is to take place today, also, at the parish house of the Trinity Episcopal church in Wheaton. Mrs. George B. Dyck, chairman of the committee during the arrangements, and Mrs. Will H. Lyford is president of the club. Mrs. George Plamondon, one of the vice presidents of the club, is to give a luncheon for the judges of the show. Mrs. John W. Scott, Mrs. Frederick Plamondon, former president of the Garden Club of Illinois, and Mrs. James Burdette, and several of the club officers.

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph R. Richardson are giving a dinner-dance at their Wheaton place this evening for their daughter, Miss Blufford and Mrs. Frances Richardson, who returned this week from a stay of six months in Europe.

John S. Harvey, son of the Byron S. Harveys of Lake Forest, has gone abroad for the summer. He was graduated from Yale last month.

Mrs. Maggie McElwaine of Highland Park and her daughter, Miss Mary Trigg Walker, are at the Belvedere club at Charlevoix, Mich., for the summer.

Mrs. John H. McElwaine of Lake Forest and her mother, Mrs. W. C. Pullman, will sail next Sunday for England, where they plan to spend several weeks. They will go to France about the middle of August. Mr. McElwaine will return the first of September.

Braille Musical Club

to Be Guest of Ravinia

The members of the Braille Musical club, which is composed entirely of blind persons, will attend the performance of the Ravinia opera on Monday night at the guests of Louis Eckstein. The party is an annual event. The performance will be Massenet's "Manon," which on this occasion will take the place of the usual Monday night concert of the Chicago Symphony orchestra. Mrs. Yvonne Gall will sing the title role, and Mario Chamlee will be opposite her.

Infant Welfare Meeting.

The Edgewater Center of the Infant Welfare society will meet at a luncheon today at the Ridgemoor Country club. Mrs. J. C. Kirchner will be hostess.

Wedding Is Announced.

Mrs. Florence M. Weems of Evanston announces the marriage of her daughter, Betty Moore, to Raymond M. Lundstrom of Chicago.

Problem of Dropping a Friend Is Delicate and Usually Stings

BY DORIS BLAKE.

How to let a boy down gracefully after some other boy's attentions have become more welcome is a question several young women have referred to me.
I thought the kindest way might be to ease out gracefully with excuses of previous engagements. But it seems that men, with L. C. as spokesman for them, think this a cowardly thing to do. If dismissal is in order for them, they'd prefer to have it straight.
"Wouldn't it be better for the girl to come straight out and tell a fellow she no longer cares for him? Isn't she acting a lie with her alibi? Wouldn't it save a great deal of humiliation later, when the fellow finds out she has been stringing him along instead of playing square with him?"
"If a girl comes out straight and tells the fellow the plain truth it would save a lot of talk against her among the other fellows. If the chap himself is a square shooter he'll stand up and take his medicine like a man, so everything would be better, all round.—One Who Has Had the Trick Pulled on Him and Didn't Like It."
If that's the way men feel about it, then I suppose it is the way for girls to act. But it would take a boy of pretty strong mettle to stand up to that blow and do it in a sportsman-like way.
"I don't think the rule would work in reverse action. I think a girl would prefer to be permitted the illusion that she was the one who fired first, even though her firing may have set in only after repeated excuses from the man. But perhaps there are girls too, who would prefer their medicine straight."

Party to Benefit Home for Crippled Children

Mrs. Ronald F. Brunswick is chairman of the plaza party to be given this evening at the Chicago Beach hotel, under the auspices of the women of the hotel. Proceeds of the affair will be donated to Mrs. Florence Protty Robinson's camp and to the Martha Washington home for crippled children. Assisting Mrs. Brunswick will be Mrs. Albert G. Pulver, Mrs. Frank O. Quale, Mrs. Sara Rose, Mrs. Bertha Glaser, Miss Lepora Richter, and Miss Helen Michaelis.

A Public Performance.

I went into a nearby drug store to buy a pair of rubber bathing shoes. I wanted a pair that would fit me tightly enough so that they would not be lost in the water, and I had no idea what size that would be. As no one but the clerk was around I just slipped off my pump, and after much tugging and assistance got one shoe on—and that was where my troubles began, for getting it on was hard, but it wouldn't come off at all. The clerk got down on his knees and pulled without success. Gradually a group of interested and amused onlookers gathered. My embarrassment mounted to the highest point possible —and still the show wouldn't come off. Finally, the clerk left me standing, perched on a spike heeled pump and a heel-less bathing shoe while he went in search of a knife.

He had to cut the shoe off and then he charged me for them, and I left the store, both embarrassed and broke.

Caught Fribbing.

A friend of mine, who was fond of antiques, visited our new home. Noticing a vase I had just purchased, she immediately inquired if it was an antique.

"Oh, yes," I replied, thinking I would put one over on her. "It is an heirloom handed down from my great grandmother."

I no more than said that, when my mother walked in exclaiming: "What a beautiful vase you bought, dear!"

A LOVELY SKIN THAT MAKE-UP CANNOT HARM

If you use powder and rouge make sure you remove it. Specialists urge this oil of palm-and-olive soap method

BEAUTY experts warn, not to use make-up and make-up, but against rouge and make-up, but against the way most women are removing them.

Powder, dust and rouge enter the skin pores and with the natural oils harden into tiny masses. When left they cause blackheads and blemishes.

Now you may employ rare olive oil combined with the finest oil of palm in a true complexion soap—a soap made for one purpose only: to safeguard that schoolgirl complexion. This famous soap is called Palmolive.

To retain natural loveliness—do not make skin bloom with radiant freshness—do this each morning and night.

For two minutes massage Palmolive lather gently into the skin with your two hands. Let it penetrate and cleanse each pore. Then rinse thoroughly, first with warm water, then with cold. Dry by patting with a soft towel.

Get genuine Palmolive, that's the important thing—10c. The Palmolive-Pet Company, Chicago, Illinois.

These Four Prayers Are Recommended for Small Children

My Study
Washington

Naturally, different people have different ideas of what constitutes a beautiful and a suitable evening prayer for a child. Those who have a dogmatic religious faith prefer a prayer which expresses that, while others like a freer, more informal feeling for a child's prayer. Consequently, I am trying to have as much variety as possible in the evening prayers that I am selecting. Here are several including two quite long ones in prose.

"Dear God, I thank you for guarding me all through the soft, restful darkness of this night, just as you guard and guide me through the brightness of each day."

"My dear Heavenly Father: I thank Thee for Thy love that guards me like my mother's love, and for Thy care that keeps me safe, even as my father protects me. This night I shall rest happily so that I may be strong and ready for my work and my play tomorrow. Bless all other little children, especially those who have not good homes or loving parents, and may their friends be glad to help them. If any are sick with Thou comfort them tonight and make them well again. And may we all find refreshment and gladness in these coming hours of darkness, knowing that Thy love is as sure as the sun which will wake us in the morning to call us from our sleep and cheer us through another day. Amen."

"Dear Father in Heaven: At the beginning of this new day, I thank Thee for the sun which always returns to light my way, for my home where I have been kept safe through the night, for my family and the friends who will be with me all this day, for work and play and love and laughter. Help me not to forget Thee, but to look up often in thankfulness. Make me strong today to do what is right. Keep me from any untruth, and from anger, and from selfishness. Let me speak no unkind word to my playmates, nor bring sorrow to my parents or friends. But when night comes, may I be happy in knowing that I have made others glad. Amen."

"For mother love and father care,
For grandma and friends everywhere,
For love at home and care each day,
For guidance lest we go astray,
Father in heaven, we thank Thee."
The second line may read,
"For brothers dear and sisters fair."

FARM AND GARDEN Y FRANK RIDGWAY

Lining gardens is a cheap way of getting increased yields of vegetables. It costs little to supply a garden with its annual lime requirements. The effect of lime will last for many years in a garden as it does in a clover field.

It probably is not necessary to put lime on a garden more than once every five or six years to satisfy the "sweet tooth" of such lime loving vegetables as muskmelons, onions, salinity, spinach, lettuce, leeks, cauliflower, celery, asparagus, and beets. Lime may be all that is needed to put garden soil in tip top condition for the growing of the crops, and it may help the soil where such crops as tomatoes, eggplant, peppers, cucumbers, and pumpkins. Even cabbage, Swiss chard, parsnips, peas, carrots, and horseradish plants are aided by sweetening the soil with lime.

Liming needs to be emphasized because many gardeners do not realize that the sweetening of the soil for vegetables is fully as important in the growing of most truck crops as it is in the growing of clover and alfalfa on the farm. Vegetable growers in the WOMAN'S AND MISS' DRESS.

This simple printed silk crepe frock is made with a generously full circular skirt at the front, and a slender, straight back. It closes in an entirely new manner at the left side, and is trimmed with applied bands of plain crepe. A wide belt marks the normal waistline, and it has a becoming square neckline. Chas. E. Purple flat silk crepe is stunning, self-trimmed. Gray flat silk crepe, navy blue georgette crepe, and rose beige crepe Elizabeth are lovely for this dress.

The pattern, 3320, comes in sizes 16 and 18 years, and 36, 38, 40, and 42 inches bust measure. Size 36 requires 3 1/2 yards of 40 inch material with 1/2 yard of 27 inch contrasting.

Coffee-Bean Skins Are Gaining Favor of Fickle Fashion

I can predict for this summer season an aftermath of sun stained skins that are not in the book on fashionable tanning and browning. You know, of course, that this season our "smartest" women are to obey the latest craze for sun cures, artificial or genuine. That is, they are to look as though they had been cured by the sun. And the smartest of these will try to look as nearly like a maiden from the south sea isles as possible.

As a clever Englishman says: "Lily-like beauties of Reynolds, Romney, Gainsborough or Van Dyke are out of date. Women are trying to resemble instead something sultry out of Gauguin."

In order to be like that, they're throwing their brimmed hats over the awninged beach chairs and throwing the chairs after them. They're going to lie right out under the sun and let the rays brown them like a coffee bean.

Which is all right for a few women. A coat of tan, I think, too, is a grand thing. But there are so few of the sex with that type of coloring that takes to the sun in large doses without coming forth blood red and sister to the lobster that I think there'd better be some serious thinking done before you believe all you hear about the value of the sun's rays.

If we lived in the South Sea isles and only had to depend on the grass crop for our costumes, this basking for long hours under the sun's rays wouldn't be hazardous at all. But suddenly exposing large areas of skin that have been "house" against the

BEAUTY ANSWERS

BY ANTOINETTE DONNELLY.

D. M.: WHEN THE FEET perspire freely hot water must be used, but it should be followed by the use of cold water, so that the pores will be closed again. Pouring cold water into the bath tub over the feet will effect this. It should be done quickly. This foot treatment is suggested for any one suffering from insomnia or headache. It draws the blood from the brain.

My small grandson who lived in the city visited friends in a small town and enjoyed the many privileges accorded youngsters there, such as going to movies alone, downtown to get a soda and out to the park to play without any grownups to watch him.

When his dad came to take him home he said, "Jack, what did you enjoy most in this place?"

After a moment thought, Jack said, "The liberty, dad."

I was going to be home alone during the afternoon and our little neighbor girl Betty had promised to stay with me. However, during the morning her grandparents came and her grandfather invited her to go to the circus with him.

Immediately she came running over to see me and excused herself by saying, "Please, could I borrow myself back, 'cause I'm going to the circus with my granddaddy."

TRIBUNE COOK BOOK

BY JANE EDDINGTON.

Hot Peaches.

Our favorite plasmantury concerns the recipe which are our hardest of annuals, as is that for hot peaches or pan fried peaches; yet, when we can have peaches and cream of perfect type we do not ask for hot peaches or pan fried peaches. In praising hot peaches we would never seem to be speaking in less than full appreciation of just a peach. We always like to put our nose into a bag of them to sniff their wonderful aroma, and we were pleased when we thought of the idea of splitting a fine peach into halves, removing the stone and eating the pulp from the skin with a spoon as one does grapefruit, and with sugar alone or sugar and cream. It makes a more finished service than do cut up peaches. But there are some ways of cutting up peaches that are much more attractive than others. They must not stand to rust and that spitting in half at the last minute makes for economy of time.

The best proof of how good hot peaches are is the popularity of peach cobbler. Peach cobbler: For a small four portion cobbler use a deep and square baking dish of oven glass from which the cobbler can be served. Put into this two cups of peeled and sliced peaches and one-half cup of sugar and cook them slowly in the oven without any water. When they are cooked they should be nicely juicy and the melted sugar as delicious as nectar, and all the more so if this peach flavored syrup so made is slightly caramelized. Should the peaches be extra juicy it may be best to add a teaspoon of wet up cornstarch, taking up some of the juice around the peaches and cooking it with this thickening and then pouring it back over the peaches.

Now it is necessary to add a crust. Some people put a crust over raw peaches and cook them together. The crust may be a simple batter made of these: One cup flour, three-fourths cup of sweet milk, two teaspoons baking powder, one-half teaspoon salt, one tablespoon just melted butter, one or two tablespoons of sugar. Pour this over the cooked peaches and bake for half an hour in an oven between 350 and 375 degrees. The baking time is in this case that only required by the batter. With raw peaches it takes twice as long. Cut this in four and serve with whipped cream.
